JOB TITLE: Leveraged Finance Research Analyst

LOCATION: London

About Neuberger Berman:

As a private, independent, employee-owned investment manager, Neuberger Berman is structurally aligned with the long-term interests of our clients. We have no external parent or public shareholders to serve, nor other lines of business to distract us from our core mission. And with our employees and their families invested alongside our clients - plus 100% of employee deferred cash compensation directly linked to team and firm strategies - we are truly in this together.

From offices in 28 cities worldwide, Neuberger Berman manages $255 billion across a range of equity, fixed income, private equity and hedge fund strategies on behalf of institutions, advisors and individual investors worldwide. In EMEA and Latin America, the firm has enjoyed rapid growth since regaining independence in 2009, overseeing close to $40 billion of client assets.

With more than 500 investment professionals and over 1,900 employees, Neuberger Berman has built a diverse team of individuals united in their commitment to client outcomes and investment excellence. Our culture has afforded us enviable retention rates among our senior investment staff and has earned us a citation as the top-ranked firm (among those with 1,000 or more employees) in the Pensions & Investments 2016 “Best Places to Work in Money Management” survey, after we had finished in the top three from 2013-15.

Overview

We are seeking a highly motivated Research Analyst to work within our Non-Investment Grade team, which manages approximately $40bn of client assets across a comprehensive suite of investment strategies. As an Analyst, the individual, based in London, will be involved in supporting the European Non-Investment Grade team by performing in-depth company research and providing recommendations.

Responsibilities:

- Recommend both high yield and leveraged loan investments based on in-depth fundamental analysis, both on an absolute return as well as a relative return basis.
- Develop comprehensive sector, company, and security views, based on proprietary analysis.
- Create detailed credit models including historical and projected cash flow and credit metrics, with significant emphasis placed on downside scenario analysis.
- Communicate credit opinions and investment recommendations clearly to Portfolio Managers both verbally and in writing.
- Assist with ad-hoc projects.

Requirements:

- University degree in Economics or Finance is preferred. Accounting knowledge essential.
- Prior experience within either a Buy or Sell side institution.
- Studying or already qualified for CFA or CAIA and/or ability to obtain the necessary qualifications once in the role.
- Advanced skills within Excel and PowerPoint are essential, as the position will require detailed financial modelling.
- Ability to organize multiple job functions and perform them with attention to detail, speed and accuracy.
- Excellent verbal and written communication skills.
- A motivated self-starter with the ability to work independently as part of a global team.
- Passion for investing, proven investment experience strongly preferred.

Job Location:

- London, UK
- Availability to travel, as appropriate
