Investment Manager's Reports

Market Outlook

Fixed Income Market Outlook:

The move in rates this year has been a notable real-yield story, not an inflation-expectation story. The implication is that credit can remain supported even with higher yields as growth remains solid and inflation expectations stay contained. Spreads are tight across investment grade, high yield and emerging market credit. Tight spreads alone are not viewed as a reason to reduce exposure. Fundamentals remain sound, demand for carry is strong, and there is little evidence of broad credit deterioration. US duration does remain difficult to call: the Federal Reserve faces an unusually complex environment of strong capital demand, resilient growth, uneven consumer strength, AI-driven investment, and inflation that may not be fully resolved. The key investment implications are to continue focusing on security selection and balance sheet quality, harvesting carry in quality credit and avoid reaching down in quality where idiosyncratic risks are not as well supported.

Equities Market Outlook:

Medium-term earnings and capex backdrop remains compelling. The AI capital expenditure cycle continues to broaden beyond hyperscalers into utilities, power, industrials, infrastructure, semiconductors, copper and manufacturing supply chains. Earnings growth remains robust and broadly attainable, even with a backdrop of heightened volatility. The global manufacturing cycle appears to be emerging from a multi-year slump, creating support for industrial and cyclical earnings outside the narrow AI complex. Technical support also remains strong, with buyback announcements running near historic levels and retail flows continuing to support markets during drawdowns. Key risks are also present, including momentum being extended, equity concentration remains high and several AI-linked markets have risen almost vertically. The resulting posture is one of growing selectivity rather than leaning into pure risk betas, using volatility as an opportunity to add selectively.

Asia Responsible Transition Bond – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- In the first half of 2026, the credit markets navigated meaningful macro cross currents, including the geopolitical tensions in the Middle East, a sustained soft patch in the Chinese domestic economy and rising inflation worries.
- Despite this backdrop, Asian credits delivered positive returns, with contributions from spread tightening and carry while US Treasury yields moved higher. High Yield (HY) outperformed Investment Grade (IG), benefitting from a larger spread compression over the period.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - Our overweight exposure to various countries' Financial tiered capital added to performance on the back of an attractive rating-adjusted carry profile.
    - Our overweight positions in frontier countries' sovereign and quasi-sovereign bonds also contributed to performance, given the spread compression witnessed over the period.
    - Our Hong Kong property allocation contributed meaningfully as the sector continues to signal an improving trend in both residential and office segments. In addition, one of our overweight issuers rallied significantly on news of interest from multiple equity investors, raising capitalisation hopes.
    - Our underweight in Indonesia sovereign and quasi-sovereign spread duration contributed to performance as spreads widened on the back of fiscal worries and rating downgrade pressure.
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - Performance was negatively impacted by our underweight in spread duration amid tightening spreads. This positioning largely reflected our underweight exposure to long-tenor IG bonds. Within the J.P. Morgan Asia Credit Index (Total Return, USD) benchmark, a significant portion of these long-tenor IG bonds are in China sovereign and quasi-sovereign bonds, which are excluded due to the Portfolio's Responsible guidelines.
    - Our overweight position in China developers detracted. A China logistics property issuer sold off sharply following unverified reports that government officials had requested domestic insurance companies to limit their exposure to the name. While near-term default risk appears contained — the issuer has refinanced all public bond maturities due in FY2026 — we expect investor confidence will take time to recover.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- We maintained a tilt towards HY throughout the first half of the year, utilising periods of widening spread and market weakness to tactically add risk, including during the second quarter around the Middle East conflict. We increased Hong Kong exposure early in the year but shifted towards a more cautious stance subsequently as the outbound investment regulations news adds uncertainty around mainland China outbound investment flows. In the sovereign space, we also selectively extended exposure to frontier markets like Mongolia and Sri Lanka. Going into second half of 2026, the Asian credit markets remain a compelling investment opportunity underpinned by solid credit quality, a tailwind of negative net issuances for a fourth consecutive year running as well as an attractive all-in yield.

China A-Share Equity – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- The China A-Share market posted solid results this period, albeit with high levels of divergence between sector and stock performance. Index returns were driven by AI-related names, with the IT sector up nearly 75%. Energy was also positive. Areas that declined included Real Estate and Communication Services.
- Policy remained supportive, with an accommodative monetary stance and advanced structural reforms balancing the fact that China's "national team", state-owned funds and institutions, pulled back from its usual supportive role to guard against speculative excess in tech-heavy segments.
- Market liquidity and risk appetite stayed resilient, supported by a broad migration of household savings from deposits into equities, a pickup in corporate buybacks, and steadier institutional inflows.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - Stock selection within IT, Energy, and Industrials
    - An underweight to Financials
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - Stock selection within and an underweight to Materials
    - Stock selection within Consumer Discretionary and an overweight to Consumer Staples

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- The team rotated the Portfolio away from traditionally defensive sectors (Banks, Insurers, large-cap Health Care, Utilities) into an IT hardware/electronics and cyclical Materials focus this period.
- IT became our largest weighting, with a shift from chip/optical-networking exposure toward board/substrate and assembly-type names. This was funded by cutting Financials and Health Care and exiting Communication Services and Utilities.
- Within Materials, we swapped our upstream battery-materials/mining exposure for a downstream bulk chemicals exposure. We also added energy/shipping-related exposure, reinforcing the Industrial-cyclical/reflation focus alongside the chemicals buildout.
- Within our remaining Financials sleeve, we tilted away from banks/insurers toward brokerage-type exposure, thus shifting our focus from credit and underwriting to capital markets exposure.

China Equity – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- During the reporting period, Greater China equities delivered resilient performance despite periodic volatility, as policymakers maintained their commitment to credit easing, proactive fiscal policy, and broader market access for foreign investors. Onshore A-shares generally outperformed offshore Hong Kong markets, supported by resilient GDP growth, early signs of consumption recovery, and stabilisation in the property sector, even as sentiment was periodically tested by geopolitical tensions, softer credit data, and shifting expectations around US-China trade relations. Investor confidence was further reinforced by optimism around a prospective Trump-Xi summit and renewed foreign capital inflows via Southbound Stock Connect, though offshore markets faced intermittent pressure from AI-related profit-taking and a more hawkish Federal Reserve stance.
- The period closed with a continued divergence between onshore resilience and offshore softness, as onshore markets benefited from incremental policy support for innovation while offshore Hong Kong equities lagged amid evolving conditions in global technology sectors. Overall, we remain constructive on the medium-term outlook for Chinese equities, underpinned by ongoing policy support, attractive valuations relative to historical ranges, and long-term earnings potential in structurally growing areas including high-end manufacturing, advanced materials, energy infrastructure, and AI-related technology.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - Main contributors to the MSCI China All Shares Index (Total Return) (the Index) included Consumer Discretionary (stock selection in automobile components), IT (significant overweight) and Industrials (significant overweight).
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - Main detractors to the Index included Financials (stock selection in insurance), Energy (significant underweight) and Communication Services (stock selection in entertainment and interactive media & services).

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- We continue to identify high quality companies with good earnings visibility. During the reporting period, the Portfolio's exposure to IT had the largest increase from 18.91% to 27.82%. Meanwhile, the Portfolio's exposure to Consumer Discretionary had the largest decrease from 20.03% to 13.38%.
- At the end of the reporting period, the Portfolio's largest sector underweight relative to the Index was Financials (6.42% vs. 18.15%). The Portfolio's largest sector overweight relative to the Index was Health Care (12.74% vs. 4.43%).

Climate Innovation – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Global equity markets advanced over the first half but grew more turbulent late in the period, as hotter-than-expected inflation, a more hawkish US Federal Reserve and volatile oil prices weighed on risk appetite and growth-oriented equities. AI-linked Technology and Semiconductor names dominated leadership over the period.
- Global clean energy and climate solutions stocks generally had a strong first half of 2026, with renewables, wind and grid infrastructure names outperforming the broader market on the back of resilient policy support and rising power demand tied to AI and data centers.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - An overweight to Industrials and underweight to Financials and Communication Services versus the MSCI All Country World Index (Total Return, net of tax, USD) (the Index).
    - Security selection within IT, Industrials and Energy
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - Security selection within Materials

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- Additions and new positions initiated in companies across various sectors, including subsea systems, sustainable building solutions, autos, and across the semiconductor ecosystem, with a focus on companies delivering technological innovations, as well as those we believe will benefit from the broadening of the cyclical recovery.
- Positions were exited in companies where relative risk/reward was deemed less favourable or where specific market or sector challenges persisted.

CLO Income – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Higher quality Collateralised Loan Obligation (CLO) BB debt spreads ended 2025 in the Secured Overnight Financing Rate (SOFR) +475 basis points (bps) context. Due to strong market technicals in January and early February with CLO debt demand exceeding supply, CLO BB debt spreads tightened to approximately SOFR+440bps by early February.
- CLO debt spreads widened from February and into early March due to weakness in loan trading levels resulting from concerns regarding the possible negative impact of artificial intelligence on borrowers in the loan market, primarily within the software sector. The US loan index traded down ~2 points relative to 2025-year-end levels (with software loans down ~8 points), with index levels at-or-modestly below the last low achieved post- "Liberation Day" in April 2025. CLO debt spreads were wider due to lower market value overcollateralisation (MVOC) metrics, which represents the asset coverage for each tranche and is the primary metric used to price CLO debt tranches, with lower loan levels in the underlying collateral contributing to lower MVOCs. As of the end of March, higher quality CLO BBs had widened to the SOFR+600bps area in the primary market.
- CLO debt spreads tightened in April, due to a supportive macro on the heels of the ceasefire agreement announced between the United States and Iran as well as an elevated investor demand and limited supply – particularly in the primary market – which led to strong technicals. CLO debt spreads stabilised in May and June as primary market activity accelerated in response to tighter CLO liability levels, which at least partially offset continued strong investor demand for CLO debt. As of the end of June, higher quality CLO BBs were pricing in the SOFR+500bps area in the primary market, retracing nearly two-thirds of the spread widening that had occurred from February to early March.
- For the reporting period, USD CLO new issue volumes were $61.8 billion, lagging last year's pace of $80.7 billion. We attribute the slower pace of new issuance to CLO debt spread volatility in February and March due to software and artificial intelligence concerns in the loan market and a challenging CLO equity arbitrage environment. The trailing 12M par-weighted default rate for the Morningstar LSTA US Leveraged Loan Index as of June month-end was 0.97%, down 26bps from year-end.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
  - Allocation to EUR CLO debt
  - Opportunistic increase to single-B CLO debt exposure at wider spreads in March.
- Detractors from relative returns:
  - Higher cash levels from net inflows during the second quarter rally in CLO debt spreads

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- Net inflows were primarily deployed into a mix of USD and EUR securities rated BB in the primary and secondary market.
- The Portfolio's exposure is balanced with approximately 44% of CLO holdings in USD CLOs and approximately 56% in EUR CLOs.

Commodities – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- The reporting period was volatile amid Middle East geopolitical uncertainty. Brent crude oil spiked above $120 per barrel after Iran effectively closed the Strait of Hormuz following attacks by the US and Israel in March. A US–Iran memorandum of understanding eased tensions in June, allowing energy prices to retrace and lifting the S&P 500 Index 10% over the first half of 2026, led by AI-driven technology.
- Headline Consumer Price Index reaccelerated over the second quarter on the energy spike, though falling oil prices by quarter-end pointed to relief ahead, while the consumer proved resilient and the labour market cooled without breaking.
- Kevin Warsh took over as the Federal Reserve (Fed) Chair in May and struck a hawkish tone at his June Federal Open Market Committee debut: holding rates steady, removing forward guidance and prompting markets to price possible rate hikes rather than the cuts previously expected.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to absolute returns:
    - The Portfolio's position in Brent crude oil was additive to performance. Oil surged in March as US strikes on Iran and retaliatory Iranian attacks on neighboring countries led to the closure of the Strait of Hormuz. Crude oil posted outsized gains as supply losses quickly appeared too large to offset with alternative sources or reserve releases.
    - Gasoil was the second largest contributor to absolute returns. Refined products were even more volatile than crude, as smaller storage buffers and greater dependence on Middle East flows left them especially exposed.
- Detractors from absolute returns:
    - Gold contributed negatively amid a volatile first half. Despite initially rising on escalating geopolitical risk, concerns around inflation and fewer rate cuts eroded investor interest in the no yield asset. Strong economic data in the US supported the US dollar and reinforced hawkish Fed positioning.
    - US natural gas dropped in February as the weather turned warmer after a historically cold January, reversing fears of low inventories for the end of the winter.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- Sector allocation decisions started the period with an overweight in energy, driven by carry and value, which added value during the Iran War rally. We then shifted to an underweight as volatility increased (driven by risk mitigation) which was helpful in the second quarter. An overweight in precious metals (risk mitigation) detracted. An overweight in soybean oil and underweights in softs added value. Out-of-benchmark diversification in LNG (TTF gas) added value.
- Curve positioning decisions: early rolling of energy contracts detracted value. Further out positioning in US natural gas detracted value, while further out positioning in agricultural commodities added value.

Corporate Hybrid Bond – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- The first quarter saw broadly negative returns across European and global investment grade (IG) credit as Middle East tensions pushed sovereign yields higher (UK 10-year gilt +43 basis points (bps) to 4.91%, the German bund +15bps to 3.00%, Italy BTPs +36bps to 3.91%) and spreads wider. The European Central Bank (ECB) held rates, turning more cautious as euro area inflation rose to 2.5% year over year and it cut its 2026 growth forecast to 0.9% from 1.2%. The second quarter brought a partial reversal in yields (Bunds -8bps to 2.86%, Italy -2bps to 3.63%, gilts -5bps to 4.76%) even as the ECB hiked all three policy rates by 25bps in June (deposit rate to 2.25%) following an energy-driven inflation shock. Growth stayed subdued across Europe throughout, though inflation eased slightly into the second quarter.
- Euro Corporate spreads widened to around 97bps and Pan-European high yield to around 347bps in the first quarter, with high-beta segments hit hardest by geopolitical tail risk. A sharp second quarter tightening rally reversed much of this, bringing European and global IG back into positive territory in June, with European credit outperforming global IG and leading on a year-to-date basis. Spreads ended the period broadly stable to modestly wider versus year-start levels.
- The period showed a more reactive ECB, moving from a cautious hold in March to a 25bps hike across all three rates in June once the energy shock pushed inflation up, a reminder that European rates volatility hasn't gone away despite weak growth. Sovereign yield moves were sharper in the first quarter than the second across the UK, Germany and Italy, in line with first quarter's risk-off tone giving way to a calmer, if still uncertain, second quarter.
- Corporate hybrids held up as a relatively bright spot through this volatility. The asset class saw notably less drawdown than high-beta segments like Pan-European high yield during the first quarter widening, reflecting its IG adjacent issuer base and structural features (fixed reset dates, strong call incentives) that keep investor confidence anchored. Hybrids then participated fully in the second quarter tightening rally and on a year-to-date basis held up well versus broader fixed income indices, reinforcing the case for hybrids as a resilient carry and total-return asset through periods of macro and geopolitical stress.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - Security selection was the main driver of outperformance year to date.
    - Top sectors from a security selection perspective were Telecoms, Real Estate and Energy.
    - Top issuers include Heimstaden Bostad, Rogers Communications, Bell Telephone and Enbridge.
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - Sector allocation driven by the Portfolio's underweight to Utilities, specifically US issuance and overweight to Telecoms.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- We stayed long carrying through the first half. The cash buffer and sub-1.0x beta were sized deliberately, kept preserving dry powder if conditions turn non-linear rather than reduce conviction. Our largest active sector position was in telecoms, regulated/network utilities and Canadian midstream, where we believe spread compounds durably through a late-cycle grind.
- We also leant into convexity rather than reaching for yield. A significant allocation in the Portfolio sits in hybrids with creditor-friendly features, coupon floors and higher resets, which protect on the downside and tend to hold up in risk-off. A potential rate sell-off raises the forward coupon on these structures rather than hurting them.

Developed Market FMP – 2027– Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- During the period, macroeconomic conditions were mixed, with constructive risk sentiment supported by resilient demand for income, while renewed inflation concerns and softer activity indicators created a more uneven backdrop. In Europe, the European Central Bank raised policy rates by 25 basis points in June as energy-linked inflation pressures reemerged, while the UK and US remained on hold but sensitive to sticky services inflation, fiscal developments and evolving growth data.
- Across the period, developed market rates remained volatile and divergent as investors reassessed the path for inflation, growth and central bank policy. By June 30, Germany's 10-year Bund yield stood at 2.86%, Italy's 10-year yield at 3.63%, the UK 10-year gilt yield at 4.76% and the US 10-year Treasury yield at 4.47%, underscoring differing regional policy and growth dynamics.
- Developed market corporate credit generated positive total returns for the period, supported by attractive all-in yields, resilient demand for carry and broadly stable issuer fundamentals. European credit outperformed global investment grade corporates, while higher-beta European high yield (HY) delivered the strongest second-quarter returns despite spreads ending June near historically tight levels.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to absolute returns:
    - The Portfolio's investment grade (IG) and HY corporate exposures delivered broad-based performance
- Detractors from absolute returns:
    - There were no material detractors from a fixed income sector perspective

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- The Portfolio was invested across corporate industries, rating cohorts and developed markets countries.
- At the end of the reporting period, the Portfolio was approximately 80% IG rated and 20% below IG.

EMD Corporate – Social and Environmental Transition – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- The first half of 2026 was dominated by geopolitical developments in the Middle East. The closure of the Strait of Hormuz during the first quarter triggered a sharp rise in oil prices, wider credit spreads and higher US Treasury yields, putting pressure on risk assets. Conditions improved markedly in the second quarter following the signing of a US-Iran interim agreement, which alleviated stagflation concerns, contributed to a sharp decline in oil prices and supported a broad recovery in global markets.
- The trajectory of the US monetary policy was also an important theme, as the market moved from pricing further easing to expecting one hike in the rest of the year in the face of a resilient US economy and as the appointment of the new Chair of the Federal Reserve Kevin Warsh.
- Emerging market (EM) corporate spreads tightened to 173 basis points (bps) from 199bps, and yields moved from 5.96% to 6.11%. Higher yielding markets outperformed investment-grade credits over the period.
- EM fundamentals remained supportive throughout the period. Growth differentials versus developed markets approached 2%, sovereign and corporate credit quality continued to improve through widespread rating upgrades and default rates remained low. Although spreads ended the reporting period near the tighter end of historical ranges, improving fundamentals and recovering investor flows continued to underpin the asset class.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - Security selection in Hong Kong real estate.
    - Overweight exposure to Argentina as well as security selection in the oil & gas sector and security selection in India.
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - Positioning in distressed Brazilian metals & mining and industrials, Chinese real estate and UAE financials.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- We added exposure to the UAE and Saudi Arabia, primarily via financials, as valuations improved following the outset of the Iran conflict despite the strong fundamentals.
- As the Iran conflict extended, we reduced risk in the Portfolio, trimming exposure to some cyclical names and higher beta markets like Turkey and Argentina.
- We reduced exposure to Brazilian corporates given the ongoing weakness within the commodities and industrial sectors in the country. We also reduced exposure to gaming in Macau.
- We participated in the new issue market across sectors and regions.
- By sector, we ended the period with higher exposure to metals & mining as commodity prices remained strong. We added exposure to TMT with a focus on telecoms. We also added exposure to real estate in Asia. We trimmed exposure to oil & gas, industrials and financials.

Emerging Markets Debt - Hard Currency – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- The first half of 2026 was dominated by geopolitical developments in the Middle East. The closure of the Strait of Hormuz during the first quarter triggered a sharp rise in oil prices, wider credit spreads and higher US Treasury yields, putting pressure on risk assets. Conditions improved markedly in the second quarter following the signing of a US-Iran interim agreement, which alleviated stagflation concerns, contributed to a sharp decline in oil prices and supported a broad recovery in global markets.
- The trajectory of US monetary policy was also an important theme, as the market moved from pricing further easing to expecting one hike during the rest of the year in the face of a resilient US economy and the appointment of the new Chair of the Federal Reserve Kevin Warsh.
- Emerging market (EM) spreads tightened to 196 basis points (bps) from 253bps after hitting a peak of 288bps at the end of March and yields moved from 6.28% to 6.54%. Higher yielding markets significantly outperformed investment-grade credits over the period.
- EM fundamentals remained supportive throughout the period. Growth differentials versus developed markets approached 2%, sovereign and corporate credit quality continued to improve through widespread rating upgrades and default rates remained low. Although spreads ended the reporting period near the tighter end of historical ranges, improving fundamentals and recovering investor flows continued to underpin the asset class.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - Country allocation via exposures to higher yielding markets such as Argentina, Ecuador and Sri Lanka.
    - Security selection via positioning in Mexico.
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - Yield curve positioning and overweights to Romania and Venezuela, affected by political and oil price volatility respectively.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- The Portfolio reduced positions in Egypt and Sri Lanka in the first quarter to reduce overall beta and established overweight positions in Costa Rica (via attractive euro issuance) and Venezuela (as economic relations normalised with the US). Later in the quarter, we added exposures to Argentina, Angola and Egypt as valuations became more attractive because of geopolitical tensions.
- During the second quarter, the Portfolio increased overweight positions in Argentina, the Bahamas, Sri Lanka, Venezuela, Ukraine and Lebanon, reflecting improving credit trajectories and attractive risk-reward opportunities. The underweight position in Indonesia was reduced as valuations became more attractive. Against this, positions were reduced in Dominican Republic, Ecuador, El Salvador, Ghana, and South Africa due to tighter valuations.
- The Portfolio continued to participate selectively in primary market opportunities across sovereign and quasi-sovereign issuers, including new issues from Angola, Benin, Brazil, Costa Rica, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Hungary, Kenya, Mexico, Morocco, Poland, Romania, Serbia, Turkey and Trinidad & Tobago.

Emerging Markets Debt - Local Currency – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Financial markets delivered a positive but turbulent first half of 2026. The energy shock triggered by the Iran war was a main driver of market volatility and reversed the central bank easing cycle. The Federal Reserve pivoted hawkish as inflation re-accelerated, while the European Central Bank delivered its first hike since 2023 in June.
- The Emerging Market (EM) local currency debt asset class posted positive returns, with the Latin America region posting the strongest returns and Asian markets lagging.
- Colombia and Hungary were the best performing benchmark countries, both supported by market friendly election outcomes. Meanwhile Indonesia and Thailand were the worst performers, posting negative returns, amid headwinds from higher energy prices and fiscal policy concerns.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - The overweight FX and rates in Hungary, Paraguay and off-benchmark exposure in Kazakhstan, Zambia and Uganda.
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - The overweight duration and curve positioning in Brazil, followed by the off benchmark exposure to the Korean won and the underweight in Chinese renminbi.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- We maintained an overweight FX risk profile in the Portfolio given robust EM growth, healthy current accounts and strong exports trends on average. We continued to trim duration from an overweight closer to neutral in first quarter given earlier yield tightening and rising inflation risks, maintaining a relative value bias towards high yielders.
- From a bottom-up perspective, we added exposure to high carry benchmark currencies such as the Brazilian real, and to markets benefiting from political turnaround like Hungary. We introduced additional frontier market exposures including Argentina and Sri Lanka. We moved to overweight the Korean won given the attractive valuations and moved to an overweight position in the Indian rupee as the near-term external account picture improved significantly.
- Meanwhile we trimmed exposures to select frontier markets such as Kazakhstan following strong returns. We also closed our longstanding overweight in the South African rand at the onset of the Iran conflict, as terms of trade tailwinds for the currency turned into headwinds due to the energy price shock.

    - LC overweight duration and curve positioning in Brazil was the largest detractor, followed by the off-benchmark exposure to the Korean won and the underweight in Chinese renminbi.
    - HC yield curve positioning, and overweights to Romania and Venezuela, affected by political and oil price volatility respectively.
    - Corporate security selection in utilities and metals & mining sectors. Brazilian corporates also detracted.

    - The tactical overlay contributed as we held cash as a hedge against tight valuations in the hard currency sovereign space.
    - Within hard currency, the underweight to Saudi Arabia, exposure to off benchmark supranational and the overweight to Bermuda were positive. Security selection in Kazakhstan was positive.
    - Within local currency, the overweight FX and rates in Hungary and Mexico and the off-benchmark exposure in Kazakhstan were the largest contributors to relative returns.
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - The underweight developed market duration exposure to the overlay was negative.
    - Within hard currency, the underweight to Panama and the overweight to Mexico, primarily via Pemex detracted.
    - Within local currency, the off-benchmark exposure to the Korean won and the underweight in Chinese renminbi.

- Within local currency, we maintained an overweight FX risk profile in the Portfolio given robust EM growth, healthy current accounts and strong exports trends on average. We continued to trim duration from an overweight closer to neutral in first quarter given earlier yield tightening and rising inflation risks, maintaining a relative value bias towards higher yielders such as Mexico and Indonesia.

Emerging Markets Equity – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Emerging markets (EM) equities, as witnessed by the MSCI Emerging Markets Index, experienced a volatile period, but continued to build on last year's rally. EM equities outperformed both developed equities compared to the MSCI World Index and the US S&P 500 Index this period, as investors continued to seek superior return potential despite headline risks.
- The principal beneficiary was generative AI-related names, driving the MSCI Emerging Markets Index's IT sector and adjacent Industrials to advance. Related economies such as Korea and Taiwan spiked sharply.
- The MSCI Emerging Markets Index saw Consumer Discretionary and Communications Services decline as investors lost interest in the China internet names that dominate those segments. Regionally, Indonesia and China lost value over the first half of the year.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - The Portfolio benefited most from stock selection within IT and Industrials, and from positioning in China and India.
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - Stock selection in Energy and Communications Services underperformed. By country, out-of-benchmark EM-linked names in US and Brazil detracted.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- The Portfolio withstood the intra-period volatility well. Overall positioning favoured, and continues to favour, niche growth names, such as our holdings within Industrials, at the expense of cyclical exposure in areas like Financials and Materials.
- Conditions in EM continued to change, sometimes on a daily basis, as geopolitical headlines impacted the economic outlook, and as the generative AI story continued to evolve. The team remained keenly focused on both themes and will carry this focus, alongside a fundamentals focus, into the months ahead to assess how best to position the Portfolio.

Euro Bond – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset-class conditions during the reporting period

- In the first quarter, European and global investment grade (IG) fixed income posted broadly negative returns as sovereign yields rose and spreads widened on Middle East tensions.
- We saw the UK 10-year gilt rise +43 basis points (bps) to 4.91%, the German 10-year Bund +15bps to 3.00%, and Italy BTPs +36bps to 3.91%. Euro corporate spreads widened to around 97bps and Pan-European High Yield widened to around 347bps, driven by geopolitical tail risk and slowing growth concerns, with high-beta segments hit hardest.
- The European Central Bank (ECB) held rates at its March 19 meeting, turning more cautious amid uncertainty; euro area headline inflation rose to 2.5% year over year, with the ECB projecting a peak near 3.1% in the second quarter and cutting its 2026 growth forecast to 0.9% (from 1.2%).
- European and global IG fixed income returned to positive territory in June; European credit outperformed global IG and led on a year to date basis.
- European rates saw a smaller move in the second quarter, with the German 10-year Bund yield falling -8bps to 2.86%, Italy -2bps to 3.63%, and UK gilts -5bps to 4.76%.
- ECB hiked all three policy rates by 25bps in June (deposit rate to 2.25%) in response to inflation pressure from a Middle East energy shock. Overall, in the first half of the year growth remained subdued across Europe, but inflation eased slightly in the second quarter.
- Credit spreads were broadly stable-to-modestly wider after a sharp second quarter tightening rally.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative performance:
    - Sector allocation added 17bps — particularly our underweight EU Sovereigns and IG Credit, overweight Agency, Covered Bonds, and Inflation-Linked Bonds.
    - Security selection was the biggest driver of performance, adding 50bps. This was particularly the case in High Yield (Industrials/Consumer Cyclicals), IG Credit (Financials), EU and CEE Sovereigns (notably Romania), and Corporate Hybrids.
    - Duration was modestly additive to relative returns, adding less than 1bp.
- Detractors from relative performance:
    - The only significant detractor was our derivatives exposure (-7bps), particularly financial focused credit default swaps (a hedge against our exposure to the Financial sector), which underperformed as the sector performed well.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- We added to duration, concentrated at the front end of the curve in the first quarter and then extending into the 5-10 year part of the curve in the second quarter remaining short the long end.
- The Portfolio maintained an underweight to EU Sovereigns and IG Credit; an overweight to Agency, Covered Bonds, and Inflation-Linked Bonds. We increased exposure to Eastern European sovereign bonds.
- The team continued to lean on fundamental credit selection, active duration management and primary market engagement, with elevated coupons expected to support going forward.

Euro Bond Absolute Return – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- In the first quarter, European and global investment grade (IG) fixed income posted broadly negative returns as sovereign yields rose and spreads widened on Middle East tensions. We saw the UK 10-year gilt rise +43 basis points (bps) to 4.91%, the German 10-year Bund +15bps to 3.00%, and Italy BTPs +36bps to 3.91%. Euro Corporate spreads widened to around 97bps and Pan-European High Yield widened to around 347bps, driven by geopolitical tail risk and slowing growth concerns, with high-beta segments hit hardest.
- The European Central Bank (ECB) held rates at its March 19 meeting, turning more cautious amid uncertainty; euro area headline inflation rose to 2.5% year over year, with the ECB projecting a peak near 3.1% in Q2 2026 and cutting its 2026 growth forecast to 0.9% (from 1.2%).
- European and global IG fixed income returned to positive territory in June; European credit outperformed global IG and led on a year to date basis.
- European rates saw a smaller move in the second quarter, with the German 10-year Bund yield falling -8bps to 2.86%, Italy -2bps to 3.63%, and UK gilts -5bps to 4.76%.
- ECB hiked all three policy rates by 25bps in June (deposit rate to 2.25%) in response to inflation pressure from the Middle East energy shock. Overall, in the first half of the year growth remained subdued across Europe, but inflation eased slightly in the second quarter.
- Credit spreads were broadly stable-to-modestly wider after a sharp second quarter tightening rally.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to absolute returns:
    - Euro Sovereigns were positive, contributing +33bps. Inflation Linked Bonds added as well, contributing +24bps.
    - European Agencies added +18bps, with Dutch and Polish state linked banks as top performers.
    - CEE Sovereigns, particularly Hungary and Romania, also added (+27bps).
    - IG Credit (+23bps) and High Yield (+25bps) were also additive, with Industrial and Financial sectors contributing the most.
    - Securitised Credit added +13bps overall, with Asset-Backed Securities and Commercial Mortgage-Backed Securities making the largest contributions, and Collateralised Mortgage Obligations essentially flat.
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - The only significant detractor was our FX and Derivatives exposure, particularly financial focused Credit Default Swaps (a hedge against our exposure to the financial sector), which underperformed as the sector performed well. The cash, FX and Derivatives buckets detracted -55bps overall.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- The Portfolio shifted its duration stance materially by adding duration cautiously in the first quarter at the front end as yields rose, then building a larger, more constructive position in the second quarter in the belly of the curve through EU and Global Sovereigns while staying cautious on the long end.
- Exposure to euro CEE Sovereigns, notably Bulgaria, Hungary and Romania was increased, and IG Credit and Banking sector positions were further built into the second quarter's strength.
- Bottom-up credit selection and active primary market participation remained core pillars throughout the period, with early volatility used to identify resilient issuers and attractive entry points.
- The team remains constructive but disciplined given tight valuations, favouring issuer selection, quality bias and relative value over broad spread compression, with elevated coupons expected to support.

European High Yield Bond – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- The European high yield bond market generated positive returns over the period, supported by resilient economic growth, moderating inflation and strong demand for income. Credit spreads experienced some volatility early in the year but ended the period tighter, reflecting stable issuer fundamentals, supportive technicals and continued investor demand.
- High yield issuers' aggregate fundamentals remained broadly stable, although dispersion persisted, with some lower-quality issuers continuing to face industry-specific or idiosyncratic pressures amid still-elevated financing costs.
- Default rates remained relatively contained during the period, and we anticipate default rates in 2026 to remain around long-term average levels. This outlook is based on our bottom-up assessment of issuers and driven by the higher-quality ratings mix in European high yield, less aggressive new issuance and fewer near-term maturities.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to absolute returns:
    - From a sector perspective, positioning in Technology & Electronics, Airlines and Support Services contributed the most.
    - Based on ratings, positioning in B rated issuers added the most.
- Detractors from absolute returns:
    - From a sector perspective, positioning in Gaming, Energy and Utilities detracted the most.
    - Based on ratings, the primary detractor was positioning in securities rated CCC and below.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- We rotated selectively into securities rated B where prices remained attractive to underlying fundamentals and default expectations were low.
- Positioning in securities rated CCC (which is an underweight) is where we had a differentiated view of the individual credits based on our proprietary ratings and analyst views on the individual credits. We also focused on swapping within industries and risk cohorts of the market to maximise resilience with pricing power, tariff impact and labour cost trends, where they persisted, and reduced the leverage profile of the Portfolio where possible without locking in losses.
- Our plan was to centre the Portfolio primarily around BB rated securities and higher-quality B credit risk (based on our internal credit ratings) and overweight sectors that we view as resilient in the current environment.

Event Driven – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Following the onset of the military conflict in the Middle East in the first quarter, volatility spiked, momentum stocks reverted, defensive stocks outperformed and energy prices skyrocketed. In the second quarter, these trends largely reversed as the market reacted positively to the US Government's messaging around a ceasefire and the resumption of shipping activity in the Strait of Hormuz, even if the facts on the ground sometimes conflicted with that message.
- Merger & Activity (M&A) picked up and was broad based albeit the ramp up was slower than we would have expected to start the year. The IPO market slowed down significantly with the onset of the conflict. In the second quarter, IPO issuance recovered significantly in terms of both listings and proceeds raised. In June the markets were highly focused on the IPO of SpaceX, and we believe the success of the listing bodes well for continued capital markets activity in the coming quarters.
- While there remains uncertainty with respect to policy, macroeconomic data and geopolitics and the upcoming mid-term elections, we believe economic indicators are resilient. In general, market volatility and dispersion generally lead to opportunity in our investment process.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to absolute returns:
    - Market Neutral Catalyst, Merger Arbitrage and Equity Capital Markets (a subset of Catalyst) have all contributed positively.
    - Live Nation Entertainment (Catalyst), Amphenol (Catalyst), Solstice Advanced Materials (Catalyst), Cummins (Catalyst), and MKS (Catalyst)
- Detractors from absolute returns:
    - Aptiv (Catalyst), Flutter Entertainment (Catalyst), Expand Energy (Catalyst), General Motors (Catalyst), and Warner Bros Discovery (Merger Arb)

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- As M&A deal volumes increased, our exposure remained at higher levels than in prior years and we believe this should continue to inflect higher. Many of the situations we are involved in are still moving along the path to completion and we anticipate the Portfolio to capitalise on these and subsequently announced transactions in the coming quarters.
- In the first quarter, market volatility and large swings resulted in some choppiness to the Catalyst strategy's returns with very little company specific news flow (positive or negative), some of the randomness in market movements abated and our Portfolio generated positive returns as a number of our theses played out and the market recognised this value creation. We have high conviction in our Catalyst book and are continuing to identify new opportunities.
- There remains a large number of companies on file with the SEC to go public with another two mega-IPOs (Anthropic and OpenAI) targeting listings in the second half of the year. We are bullish on this opportunity set.

Global Bond – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- During the period, inflation remained above central bank targets and global growth proved resilient, prompting markets to reassess the path of monetary policy. The Federal Reserve remained on hold, while the European Central Bank raised rates in June in response to renewed energy-driven inflation pressures and the Bank of England kept policy rates unchanged amid still-elevated inflation and softer growth.
- Rates markets were volatile as sticky inflation, shifting policy expectations and geopolitical developments pushed developed market yields higher. US Treasuries, German Bunds and UK Gilts all came under pressure at points during the period, with front-end rates particularly sensitive to changing expectations for central bank policy.
- Credit and spread assets were broadly resilient despite rate volatility, supported by steady demand, solid corporate fundamentals and attractive all-in yields. US and European investment grade credit generally benefited from carry and investor demand, although unhedged global bond returns were pressured by higher yields and a stronger US dollar.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - Global securitised credit, primarily agency mortgage-backed securities (MBS), asset-backed securities and non-agency MBS, along with global investment grade credit and supranationals, agencies and munis
    - Security selection and allocation within USD investment grade credit, together with positive contributions from agency MBS and hard currency emerging market (EM) debt
    - Major currencies: developed market currency positioning, including exposure to the US dollar, euro, British pound sterling and Swiss franc
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - Emerging market debt (EMD), particularly local currency EM and EM derivatives
    - Overall Portfolio currency positioning detracted, led by EM currency exposure, including Chinese yuan, Korean won and Hungarian forint
    - Duration positioning in global government bonds and selected sovereign exposures, including Chinese government bonds, US Treasuries and Japanese government bonds

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- Over the period we primarily increased exposure to securitised credit, investment grade credit, agency MBS, non-US Developed Market (DM) government bonds, hard currency EMD and EMD swaps, and we reduced exposure to non-US DM government swaps, local currency EM FX and bonds, select DM FX, credit risk transfers and US Treasuries.
- We reduced the Portfolio's duration by approximately 0.07 of a year over the period.

Global Equity Megatrends – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Geopolitical tensions showed signs of easing as US-Iran negotiations progressed (although a durable resolution remains uncertain) and US-China relations seem to be improving following President Trump's recent visit.
- While the new Federal Reserve Chair's arguably 'hawkish' tone may have concerned some investors, falling oil prices should help ease inflation fears, at least in the near term. All in all, the economic environment continues to appear reasonably solid with both corporate and consumer forward investment and spending intentions remaining strong.
- AI disruption to software has impacted the whole software sector.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - Corning – stock surged on strong execution and the impact of data centre demand, with Optical business booming on generative AI infrastructure wins, enhanced by upgrades to long term plans/guidance.
    - ON Semiconductor – stock has performed well due to the growth of the power management opportunity in data centres, where accelerating AI server demand effectively offset a cyclical trough in automotive and industrial segments.
    - Element Solutions – strong execution and growing end markets led to impressive stock price appreciation, fuelled by an AI-driven electronics sector recovery.
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - Amdocs – operational profitability remained highly resilient due to steady cloud backlog execution and tight operating cost management, though shares faced near-term pressure amid macro spending caution from major telecom clients.
    - Alibaba – top-line growth significantly outperformed expectations due to accelerating AI and cloud momentum, though shares faced near-term pressure after heavy strategic investments in e-commerce marketing and technology infrastructure severely compressed quarterly operating margins, compounded by escalating geopolitical tension.
    - Chewy – operational profitability significantly outperformed expectations due to structural margin expansion and cost discipline, though shares faced near-term pressure after management moderated full-year revenue guidance due to deteriorating consumer sentiment.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- Initiated a position in Chewy (Humanisation of Pets)
- Initiated a position in Melrose Industries (Energy Efficiency)
- Trimmed exposure to outperforming AI infrastructure stocks and reallocated capital opportunistically

Global Flexible Credit Income – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- During the period, inflation remained above central bank targets and global growth proved resilient, prompting markets to reassess the path of monetary policy. The Federal Reserve remained on hold, while the European Central Bank raised rates in June in response to renewed energy-driven inflation pressures and the Bank of England kept policy rates unchanged amid still-elevated inflation and softer growth.
- Rates markets were volatile as sticky inflation, shifting policy expectations and geopolitical developments pushed developed market yields higher. US Treasuries, German Bunds and UK Gilts all came under pressure at points during the period, with front-end rates particularly sensitive to changing expectations for central bank policy.
- Credit and spread assets were broadly resilient despite rate volatility, supported by steady demand, solid corporate fundamentals and attractive all-in yields. US and European investment grade (IG) and non-investment grade credit generally benefited from carry and investor demand, although unhedged global bond returns were pressured by higher yields and a stronger US dollar.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to absolute returns:
    - Allocations to High Yield, Hybrids and Emerging Market Debt (EMD)
    - Collateralised Loan Obligations (CLOs) and Senior Floating Rate Loans
    - Securitised Credit and Alternative Credit
- Detractors from absolute returns
    - Duration hedging

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- We reduced exposure to IG credit (IG CLOs, US IG credit and non-US developed markets IG credit), non-agency mortgage-backed securities (MBS) and non-IG Bank Loans.
- We increased exposure to High Yield, non-IG CLOs, hard currency EMD, commercial MBS, Asset-Backed Securities, Hybrids and IG Bank Loans.

Global High Yield Engagement – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- The global high yield (HY) bond market generated positive returns for the period ended 30 June 2026, supported by elevated carry, resilient economic data and generally constructive demand for credit assets. While risk sentiment remained broadly supportive, periodic volatility tied to geopolitical developments, inflation concerns and shifting central bank expectations led to modest spread widening by period end.
- Global HY issuer fundamentals remained broadly stable, with higher-quality issuers continuing to benefit from manageable leverage, solid interest coverage and access to capital markets. However, lower-quality issuers and certain idiosyncratic credits remained more vulnerable to higher funding costs, sector-specific pressures and a less forgiving refinancing environment.
- Default rates in the US, Europe and other developed markets remained around long-term averages, though dispersion across issuers persisted. In emerging markets HY, we remained focused on select opportunities away from higher-risk regions and sectors. Our outlook for default risk remained grounded in our bottom-up assessment of issuers, supported by the higher-quality ratings mix in global high yield, more disciplined new issuance, limited near-term maturity pressure and generally healthier sector fundamentals than in prior cycles.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - From a sector perspective, positioning in media broadcast, packaging and printing & publishing contributed the most.
    - From a ratings perspective, positioning in BB rated and Not Rated issuers added the most.
    - Regions: Security selection in US HY and European HY added incrementally.
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - From a sector perspective, positioning in energy, media - cable and diversified financial services detracted the most.
    - From a ratings perspective, positioning in CCC & below, B rated and BBB and above issuers detracted the most.
    - Regions: Security selection in EM HY detracted from relative results, but only minimally.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- In our global HY Portfolio, we rotated selectively into securities rated BB where prices remained attractive to underlying fundamentals and default expectations were low. We also add incrementally to securities rated single B.
- Positioning in CCC is where we had a differentiated view of the individual credits based on our proprietary ratings and analyst views on the individual credits. We also focused on swapping within industries and risk cohorts of the market to maximise resilience with pricing power and labour cost trends, where they persisted, and reduced the leverage profile of the Portfolio where possible without locking in losses.
- Our plan was to center the Portfolio primarily around BB and higher-quality B credit risk (based on our internal credit ratings) and overweight sectors that we viewed as resilient in the current environment.

Global Investment Grade Credit – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- During the period, inflation remained above central bank targets and global growth proved resilient, prompting markets to reassess the path of monetary policy. The Federal Reserve remained on hold, while the European Central Bank raised rates in June in response to renewed energy-driven inflation pressures and the Bank of England kept policy rates unchanged amid still-elevated inflation and softer growth.
- Rates markets were volatile as sticky inflation, shifting policy expectations and geopolitical developments pushed developed market yields higher. US Treasuries, German Bunds and UK Gilts all came under pressure at points during the period, with front-end rates particularly sensitive to changing expectations for central bank policy.
- Global investment grade (IG) credit was broadly resilient despite rate volatility, supported by steady demand, solid corporate fundamentals and attractive all-in yields. US and European IG generally benefited from carry and investor demand, although unhedged global bond returns were pressured by higher yields and a stronger US dollar.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributions to relative returns:
    - Security selection in and overweights to Banking, Finance and Utilities
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - An underweight to Food & Beverage
    - Security selection within and an underweight to Consumer Products
    - An underweight to integrated Energy

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- We primarily increased exposure to Banking, Utilities, Technology and Telecom, among other sectors.
- We reduced the Portfolio's exposure to US Treasuries, Consumer Products and REITs.

Global Opportunistic Bond – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- During the period, inflation remained above central bank targets and global growth proved resilient, prompting markets to reassess the path of monetary policy. The Federal Reserve remained on hold, while the European Central Bank raised rates in June in response to renewed energy-driven inflation pressures and the Bank of England kept policy rates unchanged amid still-elevated inflation and softer growth.
- Rates markets were volatile as sticky inflation, shifting policy expectations and geopolitical developments pushed developed market yields higher. US Treasuries, German Bunds and UK Gilts all came under pressure at points during the period, with front-end rates particularly sensitive to changing expectations for central bank policy.
- Credit and spread assets were broadly resilient despite rate volatility, supported by steady demand, solid corporate fundamentals and attractive all-in yields. US and European investment grade credit generally benefited from carry and investor demand, although unhedged global bond returns were pressured by higher yields and a stronger US dollar.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - Positioning in global non-investment grade, global government bonds, securitised credit (led by agency mortgage-backed securities (MBS), non-agency MBS and CMBS), global investment grade (IG) credit and supranationals, agencies and municipals
    - Duration overall and positioning in EUR, JPY, GBP and Mexican peso rates
    - Currency positioning in Norwegian krone, Swiss franc, pound sterling, Canadian dollar and Turkish lira.
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - Positioning in emerging market (EM) debt (driven by EM local currency)
    - Duration/rates exposure in Chinese yuan, US, Brazil and Norway
    - Currency positioning in Chinese yuan, Swedish krona, Australian dollar and Japanese yen

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- Over the reporting period, we increased exposure to EM debt swaps and EM hard currency bonds, non-US developed market (DM) government bonds, global IG credit, hybrids, agency MBS, US and non-US DM high yield credit, high yield CDX, US Treasuries, US agencies, credit risk transfers and ABS, and we reduced exposure to select DM currency exposures.
- As of period-end, the Portfolio was slightly underweight duration versus the Bloomberg Global Aggregate Index.

Global Value – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Geopolitical tensions around the Iran conflict temporarily disrupted the Strait of Hormuz and triggered the largest oil supply shock in decades. The cycle of attacks and negotiations saw the Energy sector whipsaw from the best to worst performing sector in the first and second quarters, respectively.
- Robust AI-related capital spending drove strong performance in Technology as Semiconductor and Hardware names, particularly in South Korea and Taiwan, generated outsized returns, anchoring emerging markets (EM) outperformance.
- Central banks largely held policy steady; the Federal Reserve paused, the European Central Bank navigated renewed energy-driven price pressures, and the Bank of Japan maintained its cautious hiking path.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - Security selection in the Industrials sector
    - An overweight in the IT sector
    - Security selection in the US and EM regions
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - Security selection in the IT sector
    - Security selection in the Materials sector
    - An overweight in the Communication Services sector

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- The Portfolio continued to overweight the IT sector with exposure focused on Hardware and Semiconductor industries, where we find many value candidates within the sector.
- The Portfolio has continued to invest in high-quality value stocks as evidenced by better quality and value metrics, such as return on equity (ROE) and price-to-earnings (P/E), compared to the MSCI ACWI Value Index.

High Yield Bond – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- For the period ended June 30, 2026, the US high yield (HY) bond market generated positive returns, supported by resilient macroeconomic data, improving fund flows, active primary issuance and progress toward de-escalating the US-Iran conflict, even as the Federal Reserve's June meeting delivered a more hawkish policy signal. Credit spreads were rangebound over the period with pockets of volatility due to the Middle East conflict. The ICE BofA US High Yield Constrained Index (Total Return, USD) (the Index) spread to worst ending June at 294 basis points (bps), three bps tighter year-to-date, while yield to worst ended at 7.15%.
- Performance remained positive but differentiated by quality, with the Index returning 1.89% year-to-date. Single B and non-distressed issues outperformed, while CCC & Lower credits and distressed issues lagged, reflecting continued dispersion in lower-quality and more stressed parts of the market.
- HY issuers' aggregate fundamentals remained broadly stable, though stress remained concentrated in weaker pockets of the market. While the default rate including distressed exchanges rose to its highest level since January 2024, it remained below the long-term historical average, and our latest bottom-up base case two-year cumulative default estimate for US HY over 2026/2027 is 3.50%–4.00%, also below the historical average of 3.2% annually.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - From a sector perspective, positioning in Packaging, Support-Services and Media-Broadcast contributed the most.
    - From a ratings perspective, security selection in CCC & below and BB rated issuers added the most.
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - From a sector perspective, positioning in Media-Cable, Diversified Financial Services and Healthcare detracted the most.
    - From a ratings perspective, security selection in B and the overweight in CCC & below rated issuers detracted the most.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- In our HY Portfolio, we rotated selectively into securities rated BB where prices remained attractive to underlying fundamentals and default expectations were low. We also add incrementally to securities rated single B.
- Positioning in CCC's is where we had a differentiated view of the individual credits based on our proprietary ratings and analyst views on the individual credits. We also focused on swapping within industries and risk cohorts of the market to maximise resilience with pricing power and labour cost trends, where they persisted, and reduced the leverage profile of the Portfolio where possible without locking in losses.
- Our plan was to center the Portfolio primarily around BB and higher-quality B credit risk (based on our internal credit ratings) and overweight sectors that we viewed as resilient in the current environment.

Japan Equity* – Investment Manager's Report

The Portfolio was launched on 30 June 2026. The objective of the Portfolio is to achieve long-term capital growth by outperforming the MSCI Japan (Net) Index JPY over a full market cycle of three years.

The Portfolio follows a research-driven, bottom-up investment approach focused on identifying high-quality Japanese companies and undervalued businesses with the potential for long-term corporate value creation. The investment process combines quantitative screening, fundamental company analysis, proprietary research and active engagement with company management.

* Portfolio launched on 30 June 2026.

Japan Equity Engagement – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- After a strong run in 2025, Japanese equities maintained the good momentum in the first half of 2026, driven by important structural changes and showing considerable resilience in the face of geopolitical tensions and currency fluctuations.
- The AI and Semiconductor cycle were a dominant force, while Bank of Japan normalisation, yen direction and Japanese Government Bond's yield dynamics continued to shape the investment backdrop. Japan's structural governance tailwinds and the government's ambitious growth strategy also provided support. Mid- and small-cap names, have lagged so far this year, reflecting both the concentration of the AI rally in a handful of names and a broader risk-off rotation away from more speculative smaller growth stocks that had run up in prior months. Corporate governance reform, buyback activity and capital efficiency improvement continued to progress across the market, but the benefits have initially accrued disproportionately to larger names with greater institutional ownership and activist engagement. On the other hand, governance reform adoption across small- and mid-caps remains early-stage, with significant room for re-rating.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - Stock selection in Financials, Consumer Discretionary and Communication Services contributed most
    - Our zero exposure to Utilities also contributed
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - Stock selection in Industrials and IT detracted most, as well as our underweight to Materials

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- The Portfolio was most overweight in Industrials and Health Care while being most underweight in Materials and Real Estate, which is a result of the team's bottom-up fundamental-driven process to investment.
- The team conducted many engagement meetings across capital management, corporate governance and sustainability themes, which we believe can have a material impact on the companies' corporate value over the mid- to long-term.

MENA Equity*– Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- A gradual path toward a US - Iran Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) in June was read as a meaningful de-escalation in the US-Iran conflict. UAE markets outperformed in the second quarter after lagging in the first quarter, with the DFM gaining 13.4%, the ADX up 3.7%, and Kuwait advancing 3.0%.
- The Saudi Exchange (Tadawul) gave back some of its earlier gains, declining 2.7% in the second quarter following a strong first quarter return of +7.9%.
- Vessel activity improved materially following the MoU, although it remained below pre-conflict levels. Brent retraced to around USD 70–75 per barrel as the conflict premium faded and the forward curve flattened.
- The US Federal Reserve held rates steady at its June meeting with a hawkish tone, leaving room for potential hikes by year end.
- A UAE stimulus package and government-related spending supported sentiment and deposit flows into UAE banks.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

The Portfolio was launched on 12 May, and as such, performance is not representative of a full quarter.

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - Saudi insurance and pipe producers set to benefit from a new cycle of oil pipeline investment were the main contributors.
    - Our position in a leading quick service restaurant operator was also a key positive contributor as the company delivered strong results across its countries of operations.
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - UAE banks and real estate rallied after the US - Iran MoU was signed later in the period, and the Portfolio's underweight to both sectors was a headwind.
    - The Portfolio's overweight to the KSA was also a detractor from relative returns as the market saw a rotation from KSA to the UAE amidst a sharp drop in oil prices, and a relief rally for the UAE after underperformance in the previous quarter. This also weighed on our overweight to commodity names.
    - Our overweight to Saudi real estate names was also a net detractor.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- The Portfolio launched during a volatile period but remains positioned in structurally growing sectors such as: Saudi Insurance, Real Estate, and sectors which we believe will remain prioritised as Saudi builds on its Saudi Vision 2030 programs. We are also positioned in names we believe are poised to benefit from self-sufficiency initiatives in energy, trade, and food.
- We added exposure to Education in the latter half of the period, as fundamentals remained resilient and valuations cheapened without meaningful deterioration. We also added Food Production names exhibiting pricing power amid inflation while the input cost trajectory was improving.

* Portfolio launched on 12 May 2026.

Neuberger Emerging Markets Equity* – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Emerging markets equities, as witnessed by the MSCI Emerging Markets Index, experienced a volatile period. EM equities outperformed both developed equities compared to the MSCI World Index and the US S&P 500 Index this period, as investors continued to seek superior return potential despite headline risks.
- The principal beneficiary was generative AI-related names, driving the MSCI Emerging Markets Index's IT sector and adjacent Industrials to advance. Related economies such as Korea and Taiwan spiked sharply.
- The MSCI Emerging Markets Index saw all other segments lose value headlined by Consumer Discretionary, as investors lost interest in the China internet names that dominate that segment. Regionally, Indonesia and Brazil lost value over the period since the Portfolio's launch.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - The Portfolio benefited most from stock selection within Consumer Discretionary and Financials, and from positioning in China and India.
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - IT stock selection and an underweight in the top performing sector, along with an overweight to the trailing Consumer Staples segment.
    - By country, the lack of exposure to rallying Korean and Taiwanese IT names hurt.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- The period's underlying market conditions were dominated by investors focused on stocks perceived as beneficiaries of gen AI. This has resulted in extreme index concentration centered around the three largest constituents in the MSCI EM Index- all of which are IT semiconductor-related companies widely associated with this theme. The team's strict valuation discipline precludes the inclusion of these companies in the Portfolio.
- Across the broad set of EM countries and sectors the team sees a compelling equity opportunity set today. One consequence of investors crowding into a narrow group of names is that the team believes other companies and markets are overlooked, which is where they are finding high-quality businesses trading at attractive valuations, supported by earnings growth and strong balance sheets. The team also believe that investing in a diverse set of companies with these characteristics could improve the probability of generating attractive risk-adjusted returns over time.

* Portfolio launched on 15 April 2026.

Next Generation Connectivity – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- The first half of 2026 presented a broadly constructive backdrop for risk assets. Inflation remained above target for most developed markets, with the US Federal Reserve holding the federal funds rate steady at its June 2026 meeting.
- Against this macro backdrop, equity markets were sharply bifurcated. AI-linked Technology and Semiconductor names dominated leadership.
- Within the Technology sector, there was a rotation away from mega-cap Software/Internet and toward AI infrastructure plays as AI-related capital investment continued to accelerate.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - High conviction positioning around AI infrastructure bottlenecks
    - Semiconductors: an overweight versus the MSCI All Country World Index (Net of Tax, USD) and positive stock selection were the single largest driver of returns. Memory stocks were standout performers, emerging as top contributors. Advanced compute exposure also contributed meaningfully. Within this area, Asia Semiconductor exposure stood out.
    - Electronic Equipment, Instruments & Components: stock selection in Materials and substrate names delivered strong returns on the back of supply constraints.
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - A slight detraction came from exposure to hyperscalers and Software/Internet names given soft market sentiment in those sub-segments. An underweight to Software mitigated the detraction.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- The investment team continued to deploy its 'find the bottleneck' framework, identifying constrained, high-pricing power segments across the AI technology stack. The Portfolio maintained high conviction positions in memory, advanced substrates, passive components, and networking, which were primary value-creation engines of the period.
- The team remained nimble in a market characterised by elevated volatility. Profits were selectively taken on positions where near-term valuation had run ahead of fundamentals and used periods of volatility to add to high-conviction names at attractive entry points.

Next Generation Mobility – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Global equity markets advanced but grew more turbulent later in the period, as hotter-than-expected inflation, a more hawkish US Federal Reserve and volatile oil prices weighed on risk appetite and growth-oriented equities. AI-linked Technology and Semiconductor names dominated leadership over the period.
- Autos were mixed and generally softer: Chinese auto stocks fell sharply amid oversupply and intense competition, though New Energy Vehicles (NEV) supply-chain and battery names held up best, while North American suppliers outperformed European and Asian peers. Chinese EV makers saw domestic volumes decline even as they leaned harder into exports, with global NEV growth stalling as subsidies were withdrawn in some markets; battery leadership stayed firmly Chinese with an over 70% global share, while Korean firms lost ground.
- Autonomous driving stocks underperformed, with investors favouring Advanced Driver Assistance Systems (ADAS) and driver-monitoring suppliers over pure-play robotaxi and full self-driving names amid persistent monetisation and regulatory concerns.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - Security selection within IT, Industrials and Energy
    - Overweight to Industrials and IT underweight to Financials versus the MSCI All Country World Index (Total Return, Net of Tax, USD)
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - Security selection within Consumer Discretionary

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- The largest positions added to the Portfolio during the period were Samsung Electro-Mechanics, SK Square and Tower Semiconductor
- The largest positions removed from the Portfolio were Carvana, Amphenol and Compagnie de Saint-Gobain

Next Generation Space Economy – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Global equity markets advanced but grew more turbulent later in the period, as hotter-than-expected inflation, a more hawkish US Federal Reserve and volatile oil prices weighed on risk appetite and growth-oriented equities.
- Against this backdrop, thematic and growth equities were volatile yet resilient, and the listed space universe delivered strong absolute gains, supported by exceptional primary-market activity, headlined by SpaceX's roughly USD 85 billion initial public offering in June, the largest in history.
- Within the theme, sustained government and defense demand (major US Space Force and NASA awards) and accelerating consolidation (Rocket Lab's approximate USD 8 billion agreement to acquire Iridium and Amazon's announcement to buy Globalstar) drove returns, while episodic volatility from idiosyncratic events, such as the Blue Origin New Glenn test-pad explosion and a Planet Labs equity raise, created temporary dislocations.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - Our overweight and strong stock selection within Industrials primarily pure-play space holdings drove relative returns, led by Planet Labs, Rocket Lab and MDA Space.
    - Moreover, stock selection in Communication Services also added value with contributions from Viasat in addition to avoiding large MCSI All Country World Index names that lagged during the period.
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - Our underweight to Energy detracted as the sector outperformed following the conflict in Iran. Currently, Energy tends to be not as thematically relevant.
    - The Portfolio continued to attract inflows during the period; cash held in advance of deployment detracted.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- The Portfolio continued to take a barbell approach between what we believe to be pure play growth positions and diversified stalwarts. We used dislocations as opportunities to initiate and scale both fundamentally and thematically relevant positions.
- We initiated a position in SpaceX (SPCX) via its June IPO and added to the position in the open market, making it the Portfolio's largest purchase.

Short Duration Emerging Markets Debt – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Financial markets delivered a positive but turbulent first half of 2026. The energy shock triggered by the Iran war was a main driver of market volatility and reversed the central bank easing cycle. The Federal Reserve pivoted hawkish as inflation re-accelerated, while the European Central Bank delivered its first hike since 2023 in June.
- Emerging market (EM) hard currency debt proved resilient against this backdrop, with strong carry income driving returns. EM spreads initially widened on geopolitical risk, but recovered to tighter levels by mid-year, supported by improving credit fundamentals across various EM issuers and robust inflows into the asset class.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - Latin America exposures were the main contributors, driven by strong returns from holdings in Colombia, Mexico and Argentina. Other main contributors included sovereign holdings in Sri Lanka and Ivory Coast.
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - Increase in short end US Treasury yields was a headwind to relative returns versus the T-bill reference benchmark.
    - Select high yield rated corporate bond holdings in Brazil also detracted.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- The Portfolio holds a balanced mix of approximately 44% EM Corporates and approximately 52% in EM Sovereign (-related) bonds, duration near the upper band of the range at 2.7 years and average Portfolio rating of BBB-.
- We added exposure to Colombia and Argentina where we see attractive spreads and room for credit metrics to improve. In the high-grade space, we increased exposure to state-owned issuers in Saudi Arabia and added an allocation to Bermuda sovereign bonds.
- We sold out of Dominican Republic, due to tight spreads and given additional risks from el-nino related headwinds. We also exited from Panama sovereigns through a debt buyback and reduced exposure to the UAE and China.

Short Duration Euro Bond – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- In the first quarter, European and global investment grade (IG) fixed income posted broadly negative returns as sovereign yields rose and spreads widened on Middle East tensions.
- We saw the UK 10-year gilt rise +43 basis points (bps) to 4.91%, the German 10-year Bund +15bps to 3.00%, and Italy BTPs +36bps to 3.91%. Euro corporate spreads widened to around 97bps and Pan-European High Yield widened to around 347bps, driven by geopolitical tail risk and slowing growth concerns, with high-beta segments hit hardest.
- The European Central Bank (ECB) held rates at its March 19 meeting, turning more cautious amid uncertainty; euro area headline inflation rose to 2.5% year over year, with the ECB projecting a peak near 3.1% in the second quarter and cutting its 2026 growth forecast to 0.9% (from 1.2%).
- European and global IG fixed income returned to positive territory in June; European credit outperformed global IG and led on a year-to-date basis.
- European rates saw a smaller move in the second quarter, with the German 10-year bund yield falling 8bps to 2.86%, Italy -2bps to 3.63%, and UK gilts -5bps to 4.76%.
- ECB hiked all three policy rates by 25bps in June (deposit rate to 2.25%) in response to inflation pressure from the Middle East energy shock. Overall, in the first half of the year growth remained subdued across Europe, but inflation eased slightly in the second quarter.
- Credit spreads were broadly stable-to-modestly wider after a sharp second quarter tightening rally.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to absolute returns:
    - IG credit and high yield were the largest contributors (+65bps and +40bps respectively), particularly financial and industrial sectors across both asset classes.
    - Securitised credit was also positive (+28bps), as were Covered Bonds (+8bps).
    - Sovereign bonds also added to absolute performance (+18bps), with European Agency bonds and Central and Eastern European Sovereigns were the strongest contributors.
- Detractors from absolute returns:
    - The only significant detractor from absolute returns was our Derivatives exposure (-11bps), particularly financially focused Credit Default Swaps (a hedge against our exposure to the financial sector) which underperformed as the sector performed well.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- Portfolio maintained duration close to 2 years and stayed long credit across high yield, IG and securitised sectors, continuing to source attractively valued securities across the capital structure in both the primary and secondary markets. During the second quarter, investment activity became more tactical. Duration was kept near the upper end of the 2-year limit and sell-offs were used to extend bonds where valuation improved.
- Within the tactical bucket, the team rotated strong performers into laggards and more idiosyncratic opportunities. This included taking partial profits on software names that had been added in February and trimming high yield chemical exposure that had been added in March on Middle East-related tailwinds.
- Within the core bucket, overall credit quality was increased through additions to covered bonds, reflecting tight spreads available in senior banking debt.

Short Duration High Yield Engagement – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- For the period ended June 30, 2026, the US high yield bond market generated positive returns, supported by resilient macroeconomic data, improving fund flows, active primary issuance and progress toward de-escalating the US-Iran conflict, even as the Federal Reserve's June meeting delivered a more hawkish policy signal. Credit spreads were rangebound over the period with pockets of volatility due to the Middle East conflict. The ICE BofA US High Yield Constrained Index spread to worst ending June at 294 basis points, three basis points tighter year-to-date, while yield to worst ended at 7.15%.
- Performance remained positive but differentiated by quality, with the ICE BofA US High Yield Constrained Index returning 1.89% year-to-date. Single B and non-distressed issues outperformed, while CCC & Lower credits and distressed issues lagged, reflecting continued dispersion in lower-quality and more stressed parts of the market.
- High yield issuers' aggregate fundamentals remained broadly stable, though stress remained concentrated in weaker pockets of the market. While the default rate including distressed exchanges rose to its highest level since January 2024, it remained below the long-term historical average, and our latest bottom-up base case two-year cumulative default estimate for US high yield over 2026/2027 is 3.50%–4.00%, also below the historical average of 3.2% annually.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to absolute returns:
    - From a sector perspective, positioning in support services, capital goods and gas distribution.
    - From a ratings perspective, positioning in BB, B and CCC & below rated issuers.
- Detractors from absolute returns:
    - From a sector perspective, positioning in Technology & Electronics, Airlines and Food & Drug retail.
    - From a ratings perspective, positioning in BBB & above rated issuers added the least.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- In our short-duration high-yield Portfolio, we rotated selectively into securities rated higher quality BB where prices remained attractive to underlying fundamentals and default expectations were low. We also added incrementally to securities rated BBB. We reduced securities rated B and CCC and below rated issuers.
- Positioning in securities rated CCC is where we had a differentiated view of the individual credits based on our proprietary ratings and analyst views on the individual credits. We also focused on swapping within industries and risk cohorts of the market to maximise resilience with pricing power and labour cost trends, where they persisted, and reduced the leverage profile of the Portfolio where possible without locking in losses.
- Our plan was to center the Portfolio primarily around securities rated BB and higher-quality B credit risk (based on our internal credit ratings) and overweight sectors that we viewed as resilient in the current environment.

Short Duration Income*– Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Inflation remained above central bank targets and global growth proved resilient, prompting markets to reassess the path of monetary policy. The Federal Reserve remained on hold, while the European Central Bank raised rates in June in response to renewed energy-driven inflation pressures and the Bank of England kept policy rates unchanged amid still-elevated inflation and softer growth.
- Rates markets were volatile as sticky inflation, shifting policy expectations and geopolitical developments pushed developed market yields higher. US Treasuries, German Bunds and UK Gilts all came under pressure at points during the period, with front-end rates particularly sensitive to changing expectations for central bank policy.
- Credit and spread assets were broadly resilient despite rate volatility, supported by steady demand, solid corporate fundamentals and attractive all-in yields. US and European investment grade (IG) and non-IG credit generally benefited from carry and investor demand, although unhedged global bond returns were pressured by higher yields and a stronger US dollar.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to absolute returns:
    - Allocations to IG credit, IG CLOs, corporate hybrids and securitised credit.
    - Agency mortgage-backed securities (MBS), non-IG credit (high yield, bank loans and CLOs).
    - Emerging market debt (hard currency)
- Detractors from absolute returns:
    - The Portfolio's overall duration positioning
    - US government securities (rates positioning)

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- Note the inception of the Fund was 5 January 2026.
- Over the reporting period, we added to IG credit, hybrids, agency MBS, securitised credit, non-IG credit and US Treasuries.

* Portfolio launched on 5 January 2026.

Strategic Income – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- During the period ended 30 June 2026, inflation remained above central bank targets and global growth proved resilient, prompting markets to reassess the path of monetary policy. The Federal Reserve remained on hold, while the European Central Bank raised rates in June in response to renewed energy-driven inflation pressures and the Bank of England kept policy rates unchanged amid still-elevated inflation and softer growth.
- Rates markets were volatile as sticky inflation, shifting policy expectations and geopolitical developments pushed developed market (DM) yields higher. US Treasuries, German Bunds and UK Gilts all came under pressure at points during the period, with front-end rates particularly sensitive to changing expectations for central bank policy.
- Credit and spread assets were broadly resilient despite rate volatility, supported by steady demand, solid corporate fundamentals and attractive all-in yields. US and European investment grade and non-investment grade credit generally benefited from carry and investor demand, although unhedged global bond returns were pressured by higher yields and a stronger US dollar.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - Allocations to high yield, emerging markets (EM) debt and securitised credit.
    - Senior floating rate loans and collateralised loan obligations
    - Investment grade credit
- Detractors from relative returns
    - The Portfolio's overall duration positioning
    - US government securities and agency mortgage-backed securities
    - Non-US DM government securities

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- We reduced exposure to non-US DM government bonds, US Treasuries and commercial mortgage-backed securities and we increased exposure to select FX, EM debt, securitised credit and senior floating rate loans.
- We increased the Portfolio's duration at the headline level by 0.67 years over the period, closing the period at a duration of 5.61 years.

Sustainable Emerging Markets Debt - Hard Currency – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- The first half of 2026 was dominated by geopolitical developments in the Middle East. The closure of the Strait of Hormuz during the first quarter triggered a sharp rise in oil prices, wider credit spreads and higher US Treasury yields, putting pressure on risk assets. Conditions improved markedly in the second quarter following the signing of a US-Iran interim agreement, which alleviated stagflation concerns, contributed to a sharp decline in oil prices and supported a broad recovery in global markets.
- The trajectory of US monetary policy was also an important theme, as the market moved from pricing further easing to expecting one hike during the rest of the year in the face of a resilient US economy and as the appointment of the new Chair of the Federal Reserve Kevin Warsh.
- Emerging market (EM) responsible and transition benchmark spreads tightened to 167 basis points (bps) from 186bps after hitting a peak of 217bps at the end of March and yields moved from 6.17% to 6.27%.
- EM fundamentals remained supportive throughout the period. Growth differentials versus developed markets approached 2%, sovereign and corporate credit quality continued to improve through widespread rating upgrades, and default rates remained low. Although spreads ended the first half of 2026 near the tighter end of historical ranges, improving fundamentals and recovering investor flows continued to underpin the asset class.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - Country allocation via exposures to higher yielding markets such as Argentina, Ecuador and Sri Lanka.
    - Security selection via euro-denominated exposures.
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - Yield curve and spread duration positioning, absence from Lebanon and Kenya due to responsible and transition restrictions and an underweight in Panama.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- The Portfolio reduced positions in Sri Lanka in the first quarter to reduce overall beta and increased its overweight position in Costa Rica (via attractive euro issuance). Later in the quarter, we added exposure to Argentina as valuations became more attractive due to geopolitical tensions.
- During the second quarter, the Portfolio increased overweight positions in Argentina, Sri Lanka, and Ukraine, reflecting improving credit trajectories and attractive risk-reward opportunities. Against this, positions were reduced in Brazil, Dominican Republic, El Salvador and South Africa due to tighter valuations.
- The Portfolio continued to participate selectively in primary market opportunities across sovereign and quasi-sovereign issuers, including new issues from Brazil, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Hungary, Mexico, Morocco, Poland, Romania, Serbia and Turkey.

Tactical Macro – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- Global equities and bonds experienced significant volatility over the first half of 2026 as markets moved on geopolitics and positioning more than fundamentals. A risk-on rally led by emerging markets (EM) and cyclicals reversed abruptly in late February, when US military action against Iran and the focus on the Strait of Hormuz drove oil sharply higher and repriced rates. Equities nonetheless recovered to new highs into the spring, with renewed volatility into June.
- Major central banks adopted an increasingly cautious posture over the period. Early expectations of continued easing faded once the Middle East conflict pushed energy prices sharply higher, as policymakers across the Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank (ECB), the Bank of England, and the Bank of Canada declined to treat the rise in energy costs as temporary and emphasized vigilance, prompting historically large moves in short dated rates. By June the ECB and the Bank of Japan had raised rates, inflation had reaccelerated with US headline prices reaching a three-year high, and markets had come to price a structurally higher neutral rate across regions.
- Earnings and equity leadership were driven by AI-related capital spending, which supported the market through periods of weaker sentiment, broadening from technology platforms toward power, memory, and semiconductors even as parts of software lagged. EM again delivered some of the strongest returns, led by Korea and Taiwan as suppliers of critical hardware, while global growth slowed. Commodities and currencies drove much of the volatility, with oil falling well over a third from its highs by June and the US dollar rebounding to a multi-year high after early weakness.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to absolute returns:
    - The largest contributors for the first half of 2026 were long positions in Korean equities, principally through the Korea Composite Stock Price Index, along with long exposure to US ultra-long bonds.
- Detractors from absolute returns:
    - The largest detractors from total Portfolio return during the period were short US dollar positions against the Korean won, along with a long position in European front-end interest rates through Euribor.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- In first quarter of 2026, the Portfolio leaned into widening dispersion and a shift in equity leadership toward non-US markets, holding long Korean and UK equity positions and a value-over-growth tilt, alongside long gold and front-end rate positions, before turning more defensive with short US and European equity and short dollar positions as central banks turned hawkish.
- During the second quarter of 2026, the Portfolio focused on non-US equity and rate-divergence themes, holding long Korean equities, long gold, and European and Canadian front-end rate positions, while adding short dollar and US equity downside protection into a hawkish June policy surprise and paring risk by quarter-end.

US Equity – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- The market rallied sharply, reaching several new all-time highs. The market was supported by generally solid corporate earnings, a resilient economy, overall strong returns by AI-related companies, and signs of progress to end the war in the Middle East.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

  - In terms of sector allocation, overweights to Industrials and Utilities were the most additive
  - Stock selection in the Industrials and Utilities sectors were the most beneficial
  - Individual stocks which contributed to relative performance included overweight positions in Caterpillar, nVent Electric and CrowdStrike Holdings
- Detractors from relative returns:
  - Overall sector allocation detracted driven by overweights to IT and Communication Services
  - Stock selection, also detracted driven by holdings in the IT and Financials sectors
  - Individual stocks which were negative for the Portfolio's relative performance included underweights to Micron Technologies and Intel, along with an overweight position in Boston Scientific

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

US Equity Premium – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- The S&P 500 (the Index) gained 10.21% year-to-date, posting its best quarter since Q2 2020 (+15.20%), despite a modest -0.95% pullback in June. The AI-led recovery off the March lows broadened materially by quarter-end, with small caps, value, and equal weight benchmarks all printing new record highs.
- Fixed income faced headwinds as rising yields weighed on longer-duration assets. The Bloomberg US Aggregate returned just 0.62% year-to-date, while high yield fared better at 1.96%. A hawkish pivot from new Federal Reserve Chair Kevin Warsh reset the rate path and introduced policy uncertainty absent from much of the first half.
- The VIX fell about 9 points over Q2 (from 25.25 to 16.45) as equities recovered and geopolitical risk receded. For the full year-to-date period, the Index options were priced approximately 5.55 volatility points above realised, a persistent premium that rewarded systematic sellers throughout the period.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - Year-to-date performance was driven by a 1.42% return from the collateral Portfolio and a 5.55% contribution from the options sleeve
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - There were no detractors during the reporting period

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- The Portfolio's average option notional exposure over the period remained consistent with strategic target of 100% of the Index.

US Large Cap Value – Investment Manager's Report

    - Stock selection, overall, meaningfully contributed to relative performance, driven by holdings in the IT, Materials and Health Care sectors
    - Individual stocks which contributed the most included overweights in Intel, Advanced Micro Devices and Dell Technologies
    - Sector allocation, overall, was also a contributor, largely driven by an overweight to Materials and an underweight to IT
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - From a sector positioning perspective, overweights to Industrials and Health Care modestly detracted
    - In terms of stock selection, holdings in the Utilities sector were the only meaningful headwind
    - Individual stocks which detracted the most included not owning Applied Materials, and overweight positions in Nike, and Wynn Resorts

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- At the end of the period, the Portfolio's largest overweights versus the Russell 1000 Value Index (Net of Tax) were Materials and Energy; its largest underweights were IT and Consumer Discretionary.

US Long Short Equity – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

    - In terms of equity long positions, longs in the Real Estate and Industrials sectors contributed the most
    - Equity short positions in the Industrials and Communication Services were beneficial

- Market Short exposure related to hedging activity decreased.

US Multi Cap Opportunities – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- US equity market returns in the first half of the year reflect two distinct periods. Sentiment in the first quarter was impacted by concerns related to AI disruption and the onset of geopolitical tensions in the Middle East. In the second quarter, renewed investor confidence was driven by robust corporate fundamentals, moderating concern related to geopolitical tensions, and AI optimism.
- The shifts in sentiment during the period have resulted in periods of elevated and momentum-driven volatility. For example:
    - The disruption in the Strait of Hormuz caused by the conflict in the Middle East impacted oil supply dynamics, and Energy stocks led market returns in the first quarter.
    - AI-driven displacement concerns weighed on select areas of the market, most notably software, and raised broader concerns about private credit quality.
    - Accelerating spending on data center infrastructure led to an increase in AI-related enthusiasm, and disproportionately benefited select areas of the market, most notably semiconductor stocks.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

After outperforming in the first quarter, the Portfolio's year-to-date relative underperformance has occurred during a period of unusual market momentum and concentration dynamics.

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - Stock selection outside of IT.
    - The Portfolio has generated positive stock selection in 7 of 10 sectors (Communication Services, Consumer Discretionary, Consumer Staples, Energy, Industrials, Materials, and Utilities).
    - Several individual holdings have delivered strong returns, demonstrating our ability to identify winners across sectors remains robust e.g. ASML, Aramark, Caterpillar, nVent, Trane Technologies, and US Foods.
    - The Portfolio has also benefitted from a sector overweight to Industrials and underweights to Communication Services and Health Care.
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - Underperformance is primarily attributable to semiconductor-related companies not owned in the Portfolio.
    - The Portfolio's overweight to the Financials sector detracted.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- The Portfolio was fully invested with approximately 1.0% transactional cash.
- We utilised periods of volatility to initiate new positions, as well as exit select investments. Positions initiated included: Caterpillar, DT Midstream, Lamb Weston, RTX Corp. and Trane Technologies.
- Exited positions included: CSX Corp., Meta Platforms, Mondelez, Transunion, and Uber.
- The Portfolio finished the period with an overweight in Consumer Discretionary, Financials, and Industrials, underweights in Health Care and IT and had no exposure to Real Estate.

US Real Estate Securities – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- The S&P 500 Index (Net) returned 10.01% during the reporting period. In contrast, the FTSE NAREIT All Equity REITs Index (Net of Tax, USD) (the Index) returned 14.20%.
- The S&P 500 Index faced a challenging first quarter in 2026. The decline was primarily driven by a rotation out of AI-exposed areas of the equity market over capital expenditures and high valuation concerns, and increased market volatility with the ongoing Middle East conflict. Investors rotated into more defensive, value-oriented segments with limited obsolescence risk, supporting REIT performance.
- Sentiment shifted in the second quarter of 2026, and the S&P 500 Index rebounded sharply. Easing geopolitical tensions, ceasefire optimism, and a robust earnings season collectively fueled improving risk appetite across equity markets. The REIT market captured some of the broader equity market momentum, with select risk-on sectors like lodging and office leading gains within the Index.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - Security selection within Office
    - Security selection within Specialty
    - An overweight to Data Centers and an underweight to Gaming REITs
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - Security selection within Free Standing
    - Security selection within Health Care
    - An overweight to Telecommunication REITs and an underweight to Lodging/Resorts

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- While the Portfolio's sector positioning was mainly driven by bottom-up stock selection, at the end of the reporting period its largest overweight allocations versus the Index were to Telecommunication REITs and Data Centers. In contrast, the Portfolio's largest sector underweights relative to the Index were in the Lodging/Resorts and Specialty sectors.

US Small Cap – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- 2026 began with broadening economic growth, fundamentals in focus for many investors and high-quality companies outperforming. The Iran conflict that started in late February changed everything. Markets initially sold off sharply, uncertainty spiked, and investors abandoned fundamentals for speculation — reverting to an environment much like that of 2025.
- The relative underperformance of high-quality small caps versus their low-quality peers has fallen to levels seen only during periods of extreme speculation, including the 2000 dot-com bubble and run up to the 2008 Great Financial Crisis.
- Against this backdrop, our high-quality focused Portfolio appreciated but underperformed its benchmark, the Russell 2000 Index (the Index).

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - Stock selection was positive in Materials and Utilities.
    - Sector allocation, overall, was positive, largely driven by an overweight to Industrials and underweight to Health Care.
    - Individual stocks which contributed the most to relative performance included MKS Inc., Power Integrations, Inc., and Lattice Semiconductor Corp.
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - The Index return was largely driven by a narrow surge in thematic technology and AI-infrastructure related names. Our lack of exposure to these predominantly volatile, momentum-driven, and lower-quality companies that do not meet our investment criteria explained much of our underperformance.
    - During the period, the Index's performance was quite concentrated. Forty-six percent of its total return could be explained by the performance of its 50 largest contributors or roughly 2.5% of the Index's names.
    - Stock selection was negative in eight of the ten sectors in which we invest, and weakest in Industrials, Financials, and IT.
    - Individual stocks which detracted the most from relative performance included not owning the Index's largest contributor, Bloom Energy Corp., and our exposure to MarketAxess Holdings Inc. and Colliers International Group Inc.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- At the end of the period, the Portfolio's largest overweights versus the Index were Industrials and Materials; its largest underweights were Health Care and Consumer Discretionary.

US Small Cap Intrinsic Value – Investment Manager's Report

Macroeconomic, market and asset class conditions during the reporting period

- There are numerous macroeconomic risks that impacted markets during the first half of the year - war, AI disruption, yet to be profitable but richly valued business models, sticky inflation, $2T in Federal deficits and disturbing political trends in the US.
- The AI investment wave continued to be a significant theme as AI beneficiaries are seeing dramatic improvements in their revenue growth, profitability and cash flow generation.
- Small caps generated strong returns during the period meaningfully outperforming larger cap stocks.

What affected the Portfolio's performance during the reporting period

- Contributors to relative returns:
    - Meaningful exposure to companies benefiting from the massive capex spending on datacenters for AI applications and the associated demand for power, memory and connectivity helped both absolute and relative performance.
    - Strong contributions from Portfolio companies providing next generation defense capabilities as well as space-based technology and assets.
- Detractors from relative returns:
    - In a strong market for small cap stocks approximately 28% of the Portfolio had a negative total return based on average weight for the year-to-date.
    - Finding a common thread among the underperformers is a bit hypothetical but it would be fair to say companies impacted by management missteps, fear of potential AI disruption and financial leverage, detracted from both absolute and relative returns.

Overview of investment activities during the reporting period

- We harvested our strong performers and reinvested in undervalued contrarian ideas.
- We continue to exit our thematic winners and increase our investments in companies perceived as vulnerable to AI disruption, undervalued healthcare businesses, and companies that we believe will benefit from a broadening of economic growth.
- Roughly 12% of the Portfolio was monetised mostly by the thematic winners but also some proceeds from companies that were acquired.
- Approximately half of the proceeds went into new ideas, and the balance went into existing Portfolio companies that were introduced prior to 2026.

NOTES TO THE UNAUDITED ABRIDGED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

FOR THE SIX MONTH PERIOD ENDED 30 JUNE 2026

1. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The significant accounting policies adopted by Neuberger Berman Investment Funds plc (the "Company") are as follows:

Basis of Preparation of Financial Statements

The financial statements presented are unaudited abridged financial statements for the six month period ended 30 June 2026. They have been prepared in accordance with Financial Reporting Standard ("FRS") 104: 'Interim Financial Reporting' issued by the Financial Reporting Council ("FRC"). The unaudited abridged financial statements should be read in conjunction with the financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2025 which were prepared in accordance with accounting standards generally accepted in Ireland, Irish Statute comprising the Companies Act 2014 (as amended), the European Communities (Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities) Regulations, 2011 as amended and the Central Bank (Supervision and Enforcement) Act 2013 (section 48(1)) (Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities) Regulations 2019 (the "Central Bank UCITS Regulations"). They have been prepared in accordance with FRS 102: 'The financial reporting standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland'. Accounting standards generally accepted in Ireland in preparing financial statements giving a true and fair view are those published by the Institute of Chartered Accountants in Ireland and issued by the FRC.

The financial statements are prepared under the historical cost convention as modified by the revaluation of the financial assets and financial liabilities held at fair value through profit and loss. Valuation time is market close on the relevant dealing day. The dealing day is each business day or such other day as the Directors may determine and notify to the administrator and to the shareholders in advance. The Directors have made an assessment of the Company's ability to continue as a going concern and are satisfied that the Company has the resources to continue in business for the foreseeable future and at least 12 months from the date these financial statements were approved. Furthermore, the Directors are not aware of any material uncertainties that may cast significant doubt upon the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. Therefore, the financial statements are prepared on the going concern basis.

The format and certain wordings of the financial statements have been adapted from those contained in the Companies Act 2014 (as amended) and FRS 102 so that, in the opinion of the Directors, they more appropriately reflect the nature of the Company's business as an investment fund. The Company meets the criteria to avail of the exemption available to certain open-ended investment funds under FRS 102 not to prepare a cash flow statement.

Taxation

The Company is not subject to the Pillar II global minimum tax requirements, as the Portfolios meet the requirements to be classified as investment undertakings in accordance with the Irish Finance Bill 2024. On this basis there is no qualified domestic top-up tax accrued in the financial statements, given that the Portfolios meet the exemptions, notably being standalone regulated investment funds (as defined in the Taxes Consolidation Act (TCA) 1997).

Distribution Policy

With respect to the Accumulating Classes, the Directors have determined to accumulate all net investment income and net realised capital gains and therefore do not intend to declare dividends in respect of shares in such classes.

Source of Distributions

Pursuant to the Articles, the Directors may declare dividends, in respect of any shares out of net income (including dividend and interest income) and/or the excess of realised and unrealised capital gains over realised and unrealised losses in respect of investments of the Company (collectively "Net Income") and also out of capital. Dividends paid out of capital amount to a return or withdrawal of part of a shareholder's original investment or from any capital gains attributable to that original investment. Such dividends may result in an immediate decrease in the NAV of the relevant shares.

The Directors may pay dividends out of capital and/or Net Income for certain Distributing Classes. However, shareholders should note that the Directors may, in their discretion, decide not to make such declaration and payment in respect of a Distributing Class.

In respect of the (Weekly) Distributing Classes, the (Monthly) Distributing Classes and the (CG) Distributing Classes, the Directors intend to declare and pay a weekly, monthly or semi-annual dividend, respectively, attributable to the shares of each such class out of a combination of Net Income and capital, so that where Net Income during the relevant period is less than the amount declared, the balance will be paid of the capital represented by the relevant shares, which will enable the classes to distribute regular, set dividends. In the event that the Net Income attributable to the (Weekly) Distributing Classes, the (Monthly) Distributing Classes or the (CG) Distributing Classes exceeds the amount declared during the relevant period, the excess of Net Income over this amount will be retained in a distribution account in respect of the relevant shares and will form part of the dividend payable in respect of the succeeding distribution period. While the foregoing represents the Directors' current intention in respect of the declaration and payment of dividends in respect of the (Weekly) Distributing Classes, the (Monthly) Distributing Classes and the (CG) Distributing Classes, the Directors may in their discretion decide not to make such declaration and payment and there is no guarantee that any such dividends will be paid.

FOR THE SIX MONTH PERIOD ENDED 30 JUNE 2026

4. SHARE CAPITAL

The authorised share capital of the Company is 500,000,040,000 shares of no par value divided into 40,000 Subscriber Shares of no par value and 500,000,000,000 Participating Shares of no par value. The Directors are empowered to issue up to 500,000,000,000 shares of no par value in the Company on such terms as they think fit.

The Company is an investment company with variable capital due to its ability to issue and redeem Shares on demand. The share capital of the Company is divided into different series of Shares with each series of Shares representing a separate investment portfolio of assets. The Portfolios manage capital in accordance with the UCITS Regulations and the investment objectives and policies applicable to such Portfolio as specified in this Prospectus and the relevant Supplement. The Portfolios are not subject to externally imposed capital requirements. While the Portfolios invest in transferable securities and other liquid financial assets, the Manager also employs an appropriate liquidity risk oversight process, which takes into account efficient portfolio management transactions employed by the Portfolios, in order that each Portfolio is able to comply with its stated redemption terms and conditions.

In order to mitigate potential liquidity risks, the Manager tailors its controls to different investment strategies, liquidity terms and historic client behavior. As part of its risk oversight, the Manager may employ various liquidity tests, the results of which may lead to a variety of possible solutions, including adjusting asset composition, drawing on applicable overdraft or credit facilities or taking other appropriate actions that would maintain an acceptable level of liquidity. Any Portfolio specific arrangements will be reviewed by the Manager's risk function, portfolio managers of the relevant Portfolio, Chief Investment Officer of the Manager as well as the board of directors of the Manager and the Directors. The Manager's risk team stress-tests each Portfolio on a regular basis in the context of portfolio composition and current/potential market conditions. Stress scenarios are run at different hypothetical redemption levels and the ability of the Portfolios to meet redemption requests in an orderly fashion at these levels are evaluated. Should analysis reveal that any of the Portfolios have low liquidity coverage ratios, conversation and steps are taken by the Manager's risk team and the portfolio team to evaluate these risks and the best way to mitigate them. In addition, daily liquidity buffer reports are monitored to gauge the liquidity risk of each Portfolio. Furthermore, market liquidity factors are monitored in order to capture potential anomalies in market liquidity.

There were 2 Subscriber Shares in issue at 30 June 2026 and 31 December 2025. The Subscriber Shares entitle the holders to attend and vote at general meetings of the Company but do not entitle the holders to participate in the profits or assets of the Company except for a return of capital on a winding-up. The Participating Shares entitle the holders to attend and vote at general meetings of the Company and to participate in the profits and assets of the Company.

The Subscriber shareholders are as follows:

Shareholder Name	Nominal Shareholding
MFD Secretaries Limited	1

The minimum subscriptions and redemption limits in respect of each Portfolio are contained in the Company's Prospectus.

Where applicable, a discount may be applied to the above fees.

The Manager may waive all or part of its fees in order to cap the Portfolios' Total Expense Ratios ("TERs"). These fee waivers are voluntary and may be discontinued by the Manager at any time without prior notice. Fees voluntarily waived are not subject to recovery by the Manager. A breakdown of the Portfolios' TERs is provided in Appendix II.

In respect of each Class of Uncorrelated Strategies, the Sub-Investment Manager was entitled to receive a fee (the "Supplementary Adviser Fee") of up to 0.75% of the Net Asset Value of the Portfolio in respect of the services provided to the Portfolio by the Advisers. The Supplementary Adviser Fee shall accrue daily and be payable monthly in arrears within 30 Business Days of the end of the calendar month.

The Company will pay Administration Fees which shall not exceed 0.20% per annum of the NAV of the relevant Portfolio. The Administration Fee shall comprise of a fee payable to the Administrator in respect of the administration services which it provides for each Portfolio and a fee payable to the Manager in respect of the administrative support services which it provides for each Portfolio and will accrue monthly and be payable monthly in arrears.

The Company paid administration fees to the Administrator based on the value of month-end net assets of Uncorrelated Strategies at the following rates:

Assets from US$ 0 - US$ 500 million	0.055%
Between US$ 500 - US$ 2,000 million	0.05%
Above US$ 2,000 million	0.04%

FOR THE SIX MONTH PERIOD ENDED 30 JUNE 2026

5. MANAGEMENT, ADMINISTRATION, DISTRIBUTION AND DEPOSITARY FEES (CONTINUED)

The Company pays administration fees to the Administrator based on the value of month-end net assets of each of the remaining Portfolios administered by the Administrator at the following rates:

Assets from US$ 0 - US$ 25,000 million	0.0055%
Above US$ 25,000 million	0.0025%

The above fees are subject to a minimum monthly fee of US$ 1,900 per Portfolio and inclusive of five share classes per Portfolio. Any Portfolio which has in excess of five share classes will be charged a monthly fee of US$ 100 per each additional share class.

In addition, the Administrator is entitled to a further fee in respect of transfer agency services provided to the Portfolios.

In respect of the B Shares, C Shares, E Shares, C1 Shares and C2 Shares in each Portfolio, the Manager and/or the relevant Distributor shall be entitled to a distribution fee at the annual rate of 1.00% of the NAV of the relevant Classes in respect of the distribution services provided to such Classes, which shall accrue daily and be payable monthly in arrears at the end of each calendar month. In respect of the M Shares in each Portfolio, the Manager and/or the relevant Distributor shall be entitled to a distribution fee at an annual rate expressed as a percentage of the NAV of the relevant Classes in respect of the distribution services provided to such Classes, which shall accrue daily and be payable monthly in arrears at the end of each calendar month.

The rate of such distribution fee varies between Portfolios and is disclosed in the Supplement for each Portfolio. In respect of all other Classes, the Manager may pay the Distributor a fee (which shall be at normal commercial rates), in respect of its distribution services, which shall also be payable out of the Management Fee.

Non-Affiliated Sub-Adviser fees
Fees payable to Non-Affiliated Sub-Advisers appointed by the Manager and/or the Sub-Investment Manager are not paid out of the assets of the Portfolios. Such fees paid to Green Court Capital Management Limited, if any, are paid by NBAMIL, and fees payable to sub-advisers engaged for Uncorrelated Strategies, if any, were paid by NBIA. Hence the aggregate non-affiliated sub-adviser fees paid directly from Portfolio assets for the six month period ended 30 June 2026 was US$ Nil (31 December 2025: US$ Nil).

Performance Fees

For the period ended 30 June 2026 a performance fee is being calculated on US Long Short Equity, Global High Yield Engagement, Event Driven and Tactical Macro.

Performance Fee paid to the Manager and a Sub-Investment Manager
The Manager and a Sub-Investment Manager may be entitled to receive a performance fee (the "Performance Fee") payable out of the Portfolio's assets in respect of each PF Class in the relevant Portfolio. The Depositary shall verify the calculation of the Performance Fee. The Directors may, with the consent of the Manager, reduce the Performance Fee payable by any Class of Shares. Performance fees are payable on realised and unrealised capital gains taking into account realised and unrealised losses at the end of the Calculation Period defined below for each applicable Portfolio. Consequently, performance fees may be paid on unrealised gains which may subsequently never be realised.

Shareholders should note that, as the Performance Fee is calculated at Class level and not at an individual Shareholder level, they may be charged a Performance Fee even where the NAV of their Shares has remained the same or dropped, for example, where Shareholders purchase or redeem Shares at points other than the start and end of the Calculation Period.

If the Management Agreement or a Sub-Investment Manager is terminated before the end of a Calculation Period in any year the performance fee in respect of the then current Calculation Period will be calculated and paid as though the date of termination were the end of the relevant Calculation Period.

The performance fee will be accrued in the NAV on each Dealing Day and will normally be payable to the Manager or a Sub-Investment Manager in arrears within 30 Business Days of the end of each Calculation Period. However, in the case of Shares redeemed during a Calculation Period, the accrued performance fee in respect of those Shares will be payable to the Manager or a Sub-Investment Manager within 30 Business Days of the date of redemption. Crystallised performance fees shall remain in the relevant Class (but shall not participate in subsequent gains and losses of the relevant Class) until paid to the Manager or a Sub-Investment Manager and shall not be used or made available to satisfy redemptions or pay any fees and expenses of the relevant Class.

FOR THE SIX MONTH PERIOD ENDED 30 JUNE 2026

The methodology used to calculate the Performance Fee for each applicable Portfolio is as follows:

US Long Short Equity

The Manager may be entitled to receive a performance fee payable out of the Portfolio's assets in respect of each PF Class in the Portfolio.

Definitions

Calculation Period	The Calculation Period shall normally run from 1 January to 31 December in each year except that: • in the case of the initial issue of Shares in each PF Class, the first Calculation Period will run from the date of issue to 31 December; • in the case of the termination of a PF Class, the Calculation Period will terminate on the date of the termination; and • in the case of the termination of the Management Agreement in any year, the Calculation Period will terminate on the date of the termination. The first value used in determining the first Performance Fee for a PF Class shall be the Initial Offer Price.
Crystallisation	The point at which any Performance Fee becomes payable to the Manager. Crystallisation will occur either at the end of the Calculation Period or on a Dealing Day on which a Shareholder redeems or exchanges all or part of its Shareholding.
High Water Mark	The greater of: (i) the initial offer price per Share; and (ii) the NAV per share at the end of any previous Calculation Period in respect of which a Performance Fee was paid.

Methodology

For each Calculation Period, a Performance Fee in respect of each PF Class in issue becomes due in the event that the NAV per share at the end of the Calculation Period exceeds the High Water Mark (net of all costs before the deduction of any accrued Performance Fee, provided that in doing so it is in the Shareholder's best interest) for that particular PF Class.

The Performance Fee will be calculated on each Dealing Day and will be equal to 15% of the amount by which the percentage growth in the NAV per share over the Calculation Period exceeds that of the High Water Mark. The Performance Fee will be accrued on each Dealing Day and will form part of the NAV per share for each PF Class where applicable.

Any Performance Fee accrual on a Dealing Day will be superseded by any accrual made on the following Dealing Day up to the last Dealing Day of the Calculation Period.

In all cases the NAV per share used in the calculation of the Performance Fee is unswung, i.e. it does not include any adjustment for swing pricing.

No Performance Fee will be paid until the NAV per share exceeds the High Water Mark and such fee is only payable on the outperformance of the NAV per share over the Hurdle Rate as described above.

Shareholders should note that, as the Performance Fee is calculated at Class level and not at an individual Shareholder level, they may be charged a Performance Fee even where the NAV of their shares has remained the same or dropped, for example, where Shareholders purchase or redeem Shares at points other than the start and end of the Calculation Period.

Methodology (continued)

The Performance Fee will be accrued in the NAV on each Dealing Day and will normally be payable to the Manager in arrears within 30 Business Days of the end of each Calculation Period. However, in the case of Shares redeemed during a Calculation Period, the accrued performance fee in respect of those Shares will be payable to the Manager within 30 Business Days of the date of redemption.

Crystallised Performance Fees shall remain in the relevant PF Class (but shall not participate in subsequent gains and losses of the relevant Class) until paid to the Manager and shall not be used or made available to satisfy redemptions or pay any fees and expenses of the relevant PF Class.

The Depositary shall verify the calculation of the Performance Fee.

The Directors may, with the consent of the Manager, reduce the Performance Fee payable by any PF Class. Performance Fees are payable on realised and unrealised capital gains, which for the avoidance of doubt includes investment income, taking into account realised and unrealised losses at the end of the Calculation Period. Consequently, Performance Fees may be paid on unrealised gains which may subsequently never be realised.

For the period ended 30 June 2026, the Manager earned a performance fee of US$ 64,075 (30 June 2025: US$ 195,213).

Global High Yield Engagement

The Manager may be entitled to receive a performance fee payable out of the Portfolio's assets in respect of each PF Class in the Portfolio.

Definitions

Calculation Period	The Calculation Period shall normally run from 1 January to 31 December in each year except that: • in the case of the initial issue of Shares in each PF Class, the first Calculation Period will run from the date of issue to 31 December; • in the case of the termination of a PF Class, the Calculation Period will terminate on the date of the termination; and • in the case of the termination of the Management Agreement in any year, the Calculation Period will terminate on the date of the termination. Crystallisation	The point at which any performance fee becomes payable to the Manager. Crystallisation will occur either at the end of the Calculation Period or on a Dealing Day on which a Shareholder redeems or converts all or part of its Shareholding.
Outperformance	The excess performance of the NAV per share over the performance of the Benchmark during the Calculation Period.

Methodology

For each Calculation Period, a Performance Fee in respect of each PF Class in issue becomes due in respect of any Outperformance, i.e. the excess performance of the NAV per share over the performance of the Benchmark applicable to that particular PF Class during the Calculation Period. The Percentage Fee will be calculated on each Dealing Day and will be equal to 20% of the Outperformance applicable to that particular PF Class over the same period.

In all cases the NAV per share used in the calculation of the Performance Fee is unswung, i.e. it does not include any adjustment for swing pricing.

In the event that the performance of a PF Class over a Calculation Period is less than that of the Benchmark, no Performance Fee shall be payable in respect of that PF Class until such cumulative underperformance relative to its Benchmark has been recovered.

In the event that the PF Class has achieved Outperformance over a Calculation Period, a Performance Fee shall be payable in respect of that PF Class. Upon payment the Benchmark will be reset, this process ensures the NAV per share and the Benchmark start from the same place at the start of the calculation period. Accordingly for the next Calculation Period the commencing Benchmark value will equal the NAV in respect of the PF Class on which the Performance Fee was paid i.e. if the NAV were to equal 110 the commencing Benchmark Value would also equal 110.

Shareholders should note that, as the Performance Fee is payable on the outperformance over the Benchmark, they may be charged a Performance Fee where the NAV of their shares has declined but to a lesser extent than the Benchmark.

Shareholders should note that, as the Performance Fee is calculated at Class level and not at an individual Shareholder level, they may be charged a Performance Fee even where the NAV of their shares has remained the same or dropped, for example, where Shareholders purchase or redeem Shares at points other than the start and end of a Calculation Period.

The Benchmark is a widely used benchmark for short-term interest rates, providing an indication of the average rates at which banks could obtain wholesale, unsecured funding for set periods in particular currencies.

For Classes denominated in currencies other than those provided for above, the Benchmark will be the ICE BofA US Dollar 3-Month Deposit Offered Rate Constant Maturity Index (Total Return, USD) hedged to the relevant class currency, as this better reflects an appropriate comparator for investors in those Classes.

Methodology

For each Calculation Period, a Performance Fee in respect of each Class in issue becomes due in respect of any Outperformance, i.e. the excess performance of the Net Asset Value per Share (net of all costs before the deduction of any accrued Performance Fee, provided that in doing so it is in the Shareholder's best interest) over the performance of the Benchmark applicable to that particular Class during the Calculation Period. The Performance Fee will be calculated on each Dealing Day and will be up to 20% of the Outperformance applicable to that particular Class over the same period.

In the event that the performance of a Class over a Calculation Period is less than that of the Benchmark, no Performance Fee shall be payable in respect of that Class until such cumulative underperformance relative to its Benchmark has been recovered.

In the event that the Class has achieved Outperformance over a Calculation Period, a Performance Fee shall be payable in respect of that Class. Upon payment the Benchmark will be reset, this process ensures the Net Asset Value per Share and the Benchmark start from the same place at the start of the calculation period. Accordingly for the next Calculation Period, the commencing Benchmark value will equal the Net Asset Value in respect of the Class on which the performance fee was paid i.e. if the Net Asset Value were to equal 110 at the end of a Calculation Period in which a Performance Fee was paid, the Benchmark value at the start of the following Calculation Period would also equal 110.

Shareholders should note that, as the Performance Fee is payable on the outperformance over the Benchmark, they may be charged a Performance Fee where the Net Asset Value of their Shares has declined but to a lesser extent than the Benchmark.

Shareholders should note that, as the Performance Fee is calculated at Class level and not at an individual Shareholder level and as no series accounting is applied in respect of the Performance Fee, they may be charged a Performance Fee even where the Net Asset Value of their Shares has remained the same or dropped, for example, where Shareholders purchase or redeem Shares at points other than the start and end of a Calculation Period.

The Performance Fee will be calculated and accrued daily as at each Valuation Point. The Performance Fee is calculated on the unswung Net Asset Value per Share, i.e. before any adjustment for swing pricing (for more information on "swing pricing" please see the "Determination of Net Asset Value – Adjustments of Valuations and Swing Pricing" section of the Prospectus).

The Performance Fee will normally be payable to the Sub-Investment Manager in arrears within 30 Business Days of 31 December each year. However, in the event of the Crystallisation of the Performance Fee during a Calculation Period, the accrued Performance Fee in respect of such amounts will be payable within 30 Business Days of the end of the calendar quarter during which the Crystallisation occurred.

The Depositary shall verify the calculation of any Performance Fee and ensure that it is not open to the possibility of manipulation.

Performance Fees are payable on realised and unrealised capital gains, which for the avoidance of doubt includes investment income, taking into account realised and unrealised losses at the end of the Calculation Period. Consequently, Performance Fees may be paid on unrealised gains which may subsequently never be realised.

For the period ended 30 June 2026, the Manager earned a performance fee of US$ Nil (30 June 2025: US$ 366,532).

The Company pays the Depositary a fee in respect of trustee services for each Portfolio which shall not exceed 0.02% per annum of the NAV of the relevant Portfolio and which accrues monthly and is payable monthly in arrears. The Depositary is also entitled to reimbursement by the Company out of the assets of the Portfolio for safekeeping fees, transaction charges and reasonable out-of pocket expenses ("Custody fees") incurred for the benefit of the Portfolio including the fees (which will not exceed normal commercial rates) and reasonable out-of-pocket expenses of any sub-custodian appointed by the Depositary.

10. FINANCIAL INSTRUMENT DISCLOSURES

Fair Value of Investments

FRS 102 Section 11.27 on "Fair Value: Disclosure" requires disclosure relating to the fair value hierarchy in which fair value measurements are categorised for assets and liabilities. The disclosures are based on a three-level fair value hierarchy for the inputs used in valuation techniques to measure fair value.

The Company has classified fair value measurements using a fair value hierarchy that reflects the significance of the inputs used in making the measurements. The three levels of the fair value hierarchy under FRS 102 are described below:

Level 1 – Unadjusted quoted prices in active markets that are accessible at the measurement date for identical unrestricted assets or liabilities;

Level 2 – Inputs other than quoted prices included in Level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly (as prices) or indirectly (derived from prices);

Level 3 – Inputs for the asset or liability that are not based on observable market data (unobservable inputs). Pricing inputs are unobservable for the investment and include situations where there is little, if any market activity for the instrument. The inputs into the determination of fair value require significant management, judgement or estimation. As observable prices are not available for these securities, the Portfolios would have used valuation techniques to derive the fair value if applicable.

The level in the fair value hierarchy within which the fair value measurement is categorised in its entirety is determined on the basis of the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement in its entirety. For this purpose, the significance of an input is assessed against the fair value measurement in its entirety. For example, if a fair value measurement uses observable inputs that require significant adjustment based on unobservable inputs, that measure is a Level 3 measurement.

Assessing the significance of a particular input to the fair value measurement in its entirety requires judgement in considering the factors specific to the asset or liability.

Determining what constitutes observable inputs requires significant judgment by the Manager. The Manager considers observable inputs to be market data that is readily available, supported by market transactions, not proprietary, regularly distributed, transparent, verifiable, reliable, based on consensus, and provided by independent sources actively involved in the relevant market.

The value of the Portfolios' investments in equity securities, exchange-traded funds, warrants, exchange-traded options purchased and written, for which market quotations are available, is generally determined by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services based on the latest sale price quoted on a principal exchange or market for that security (Level 1 inputs). Securities traded primarily on the NASDAQ Stock Market are normally valued at the NASDAQ Official Closing Price ("NOCP") provided by NASDAQ each business day. The NOCP is the most recently reported price as of 4:00:02 p.m., Eastern Time, unless that price is outside the range of the "inside" bid and asked prices (i.e., the bid and asked prices that dealers quote to each other when trading for their own accounts); in that case, NASDAQ will adjust the price to equal the inside bid or asked price, whichever is closer. Because of delays in reporting trades, the NOCP may not be based on the price of the last trade to occur before the market closes. If there is no sale of a security on a particular day, the independent pricing services may value the security based on market quotations.

The value of participatory notes is determined by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services based on the underlying equity security and applicable exchange rate (Level 1 inputs).

The value of the Portfolios' investments in debt securities is determined primarily by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services based on available mid quotations, or if quotations are not available, by methods which include various considerations based on security type (generally Level 2 inputs). If there is more than one quote security available, security is classified as Level 2. In addition to the consideration of yields or prices of securities of comparable quality, coupon, maturity and type, indications as to values from dealers, and general market conditions, the following is a description of other Level 2 inputs and related valuation techniques used by independent pricing services to value certain types of debt securities held by the Portfolios:

Corporate Bonds. Inputs used to value corporate debt securities generally include relevant credit information, observed market movements, sector news, US Treasury yield curve or relevant benchmark curve, and other market information, which may include benchmark yield curves, reported trades, broker-dealer quotes, issuer spreads, comparable securities, and reference data, such a market research publications, when available ("Other Market Information").

Convertible Bonds. Inputs used to value convertible bonds (including CoCos) generally include underlying stock data, conversion premiums, listed bond and preferred stock prices and Other Market Information, which may include benchmark curves, trade execution data, and sensitivity analysis, when available.

US Treasury Obligations. Inputs used to value US Treasury securities generally include quotes from several inter-dealer brokers and Other Market Information.

10. FINANCIAL INSTRUMENT DISCLOSURES (CONTINUED)

US Government Agency Securities. Inputs used to value US Government Agency securities generally include obtaining benchmark quotes and Other Market Information.

Asset-Backed Securities and Mortgage-Backed Securities. Inputs used to value asset-backed securities and mortgage-backed securities generally include models that consider a number of factors, which may include the following: prepayment speeds, cash flows, spread adjustments and Other Market Information.

High Yield Securities. Inputs used to value high yield securities generally include a number of observations of equity and credit default swap curves related to the issuer and Other Market Information.

Emerging Markets Debt and Foreign Government Securities. Inputs used to value emerging markets debt and foreign government securities generally include dealer quotes, bond market activity, discounted cash flow models, and other relevant information such as credit spreads, benchmark curves and Other Market Information.

Collateralised Loan Obligations (CLOs): The value of collateralised loan obligations is primarily determined by cash flow data, relevant loan pricing data and market conditions, and research from market participants and trading desks (Level 2 or 3 inputs).

The value of term loans is determined primarily by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services based on broker quotes (generally Level 2 or Level 3 inputs depending on the number of quotes available).

The value of insurance linked securities is determined by the Manager primarily by obtaining valuations from independent third party pricing services based on mid quotations (Level 2 or 3 inputs).

The value of futures contracts is determined by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services at the settlement price at the market close (Level 1 inputs).

The value of forward foreign currency contracts is determined by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services based on actual traded currency rates on independent pricing services' networks, along with other traded and quoted currency rates provided to the pricing services by leading market participants (Level 2 inputs).

The value of credit default swaps is determined by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services using a model that considers a number of factors, which may include default probabilities, credit curves, recovery rates and cash flows (Level 2 or 3 inputs).

The value of inflation swaps is determined primarily by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services based on references to the underlying inflation rates including forward inflation expectation rate and the respective interbank offered forward rate to produce the daily price. The present value is calculated based off of expected cash flows based on swap parameters along with reference to the underlying forward inflation curve and reference rate (Level 2 inputs).

The value of interest rate swaps is determined primarily by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services based on references to the underlying rates including the local overnight index swap rate and the respective interbank offered forward rate to produce the daily price. The present value is calculated based off of expected cash flows based on swap parameters along with reference to the underlying yield curve and reference rate (Level 2 inputs).

The value of total return swaps is determined by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services using the underlying asset and stated benchmark interest rate (Level 2 inputs).

The value of volatility swaps is determined primarily by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services and is based on a predetermined volatility level versus the actual amount of volatility realised over a period data of the reference asset (Level 2 or 3 inputs).

The value of contracts for difference ("CFD") is determined primarily by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services, which are based on references to the underlying asset and the stated reference rate (Level 2 or 3 inputs).

Option contracts that are traded over-the-counter are generally valued on the basis of quotations provided by broker dealers or prices provided by independent pricing services who use a series of techniques including simulated pricing models and/or curve fitting (bootstrapping), which aids in determining the present value of the contracts. The pricing models use inputs that are observed from actively quoted markets such as issuer details, indices, spreads, interest rates, yield curves, credit curves, volatility surfaces, and exchange rates (Level 2 inputs).

The value of repurchase and reverse repurchase agreements is determined by the Manager primarily by obtaining valuations from independent pricing services, which are evaluated at par (Level 2 inputs) in line with market conventions.

The Manager has developed a process to periodically review information provided by independent pricing services for all types of securities.

Investments in non-exchange traded investment funds are valued using the respective fund's daily calculated net asset value ("NAV") per share (Level 2 inputs), when available.

If a valuation is not available from an independent pricing service, or if the Manager has reason to believe that the valuation received does not represent the amount a Portfolio might reasonably expect to receive on a current sale in an orderly transaction, the Manager seeks to obtain quotations from brokers or dealers (generally considered Level 2 or Level 3 inputs depending on the number of quotes available). If such quotations are not available, the security is valued using methods the Board of Directors has approved in the good-faith belief that the resulting valuation will reflect the fair value of the security.

Inputs and assumptions considered in determining the fair value of a security based on Level 2 or Level 3 inputs may include, but are not limited to, the type of the security; the initial cost of the security; the existence of any contractual restrictions on the security's disposition; the price and extent of public trading in similar securities of the issuer or of comparable companies; quotations or evaluated prices from broker-dealers and/or pricing services; information obtained from the issuer and/or analysts; an analysis of the company's or issuer's financial statements; an evaluation of the inputs that influence the issuer and the market(s) in which the security is purchased and sold.

The value of the Portfolios' investments in foreign securities is generally determined using the same valuation methods and inputs as other Portfolio investments, as discussed above. Foreign security prices expressed in local currency values are normally translated from the local currency into US dollars using the exchange rates as of 4:00 p.m., Eastern Time on days the New York Stock Exchange ("NYSE") is open for business. The Board of Directors has approved the use of ICE Data Pricing & Reference Data LLC ("ICE") to assist in determining the fair value of foreign equity securities when changes in the value of a certain index suggest that the closing prices on the foreign exchanges may no longer represent the amount that a Portfolio could expect to receive for those securities or on days when foreign markets are closed and US markets are open. In each of these events, ICE will provide adjusted prices for certain foreign equity securities using a statistical analysis of historical correlations of multiple factors (Level 2 inputs). The Board of Directors has also approved the use of ICE to evaluate the prices of foreign debt securities as of the time as of which a Portfolio's share price is calculated. ICE utilizes benchmark spread and yield curves and evaluates available market activity from the local close to the time as of which a Portfolio's share price is calculated (Level 2 inputs) to assist in determining prices for certain foreign debt securities.

In the case of both foreign equity and foreign debt securities, in the absence of precise information about the market values of these foreign securities as of the time as of which a Portfolio's share price is calculated, the Board of Directors has determined on the basis of available data that prices adjusted or evaluated in this way are likely to be closer to the prices a Portfolio could realise on a current sale than are the prices of those securities established at the close of the foreign markets in which the securities primarily trade.

Fair value prices are necessarily estimates, and there is no assurance that such a price will be at or close to the price at which the security is next quoted or next trades.

Fixed income securities are subject to the risk of an issuer's ability to meet principal and interest payments on the obligation (credit risk) and may also be subject to price volatility due to such factors as interest rate sensitivity, market perception of the creditworthiness of the issuer and general market liquidity (market risk). Fixed income securities are also exposed to the risk that their or their issuers' credit ratings may be downgraded, which can cause a significant drop in the value of such securities.

Lower rated or unrated (i.e. non-investment grade or high yield) securities are more likely to react to developments affecting market and credit risk than are more highly rated securities, which primarily react to movements in the general level of interest rates. Investors should carefully consider the relative risks of investing in high yield securities and understand that such securities generally are not meant for short-term investing. Investors who subscribe in a currency other than the base currency of the Company are exposed to currency risk. Fluctuations in these exchange rates may affect the return on investment.

Past performance is not indicative of future results. For details of the investment risks, which may include but are not limited to liquidity, interest rate, credit and currency risk, see the current prospectus. Please note that any dividends/interest which the Company may receive may be subject to withholding tax. The benchmark does not take into account the effects of tax and the deduction is therefore not reflected in the benchmark return illustrated herein. The investment objective and performance benchmark is a target only and not a guarantee of the Company performance. The index is unmanaged and cannot be invested in directly. Index returns assume reinvestment of dividends and capital gains and unlike fund returns do not reflect fees or expenses. Adverse movements in currency exchange rates can result in a decrease in return and a loss of capital. The investments of each Portfolio may be fully hedged into the Portfolio's base currency: this may reduce currency risks but may also expose the Portfolio to other risks such as the default of a counterparty. As noted above for further information relating to risks specific to this strategy please see the current prospectus.
