Class R6	$55	0.56%

How did the Fund perform last year?

Over the year, the Fund delivered a negative total return that lagged its benchmark, the Russell Midcap® Growth Index (the Index), which was also negative. Both the period and our portfolio holdings were largely defined by secular growth trends, most notably the development and expansion of AI. In the team's view, despite continued strong fundamentals and thesis-affirming guidance across the portfolio, the period closed with an abrupt market pivot away from those higher expectation secular growth opportunities, with that rotation materially impacting the Fund over the last three months.
