IN THEIR OWN WORDS:

“Neuberger Berman faced many unknown challenges during COVID-19. Yet, the firm’s experience and resiliency prepared it to respond effectively and after 18-plus months is positioned well for the road ahead. At the top was a continued drive to serve our clients. With frequent outreach and effective use of technology, we stayed connected and provided critical transparency to calm fears and keep a focus on the long term. The firm brought a similar focus to engaging employees, where regular communications as well as additional resources to meet new demands of working remotely and managing families/personal lives were critical to navigating the environment. As we shift to a flexible work pilot, we feel well-prepared to navigate new challenges.”
