Please be informed about the following matter that may have an impact on your personal taxation as an investor in the NB fund:

- German investors invested in an investment fund pursuant to the German Investment Tax Act ("GITA") benefit from a partial tax exemption when a fund is classified as mixed or equity fund under sec. 2 (6) and (7) GITA according to its investment conditions (e.g. fund prospectus/supplement).
- NB fund is not classified as mixed or equity funds according to their investment conditions. This reflects the correct treatment from a German tax perspective.

- However, tax information for German investors - such as the classification as equity or mixed fund - are also regularly published with the data provider “WM Datenservice”. Most German custodian banks rely on the information published in WM Datenservice for taxation purposes of their clients.
- NB fund was incorrectly classified as equity funds within the meaning of sec. 2 (6) GITA in the database of WM-Datenservice.
- Further, the so-called annual lump sum (“Vorabpauschale”) was not consistently published in WM-Datenservice for the NB fund and tax years.

Potential impact for German-resident investors

- As most German custodian banks apply the information published in WM-Datenservice without further review for the taxation/tax statements of their German clients, German clients may have not been (fully) taxed on income received or deemed received from their investment in the NB fund.
- We have outlined the fund classification according to GITA and the taxable income for German investors in below table. We advise German investors to assess if they are impacted by this matter and consult with their personal tax advisor for potential amendments of their personal tax return.

Notes:

1) Fund classification: "fund without partial tax exemption" corresponds to an investment fund that does not meet the requirements of Section 2 (6) and (7) GITA

2) Annual lump sum

- Taxable inflow of annual lump sum on the first business day.
- Lump sum has been determined at share class level according to the section 18 GITA. Pursuant to section 18 (4) GITA, the calculation of the lump sum is based on the base interest rate, which has been determined by the Deutsche Bundesbank for the first trading day of the calendar year and is valid for corresponding calendar year.
- The lump sum has been determined in EURO. When relevant, the figures in share class currency have been converted into EURO based on the reference exchange rates of the European Central Bank on the corresponding date. For share classes launched over the weekend, the exchange rate on the first working day is used.
- The lump sum has been determined assuming that the shares of the investment fund have been held by the investors throughout the whole calendar year. In case shares of the fund were acquired by the investors during the calendar year, according to section 18 (2) GITA, the preliminary lump sum should be reduced by one twelfth for every full month, which precedes the month of acquisition.
- For funds not evaluated on a daily basis, 31st December of the preceding year was used as first NAV/redemption price for the calculation of the lump sum.
