How did the Fund perform last year?

The performance of the Fund was positive during the period. Key factors that materially affected performance included the Fund's exposure to the Industrials, Financials and IT sectors, which contributed positively to absolute results. In contrast, holdings in Health Care and Energy stocks detracted from overall performance. Despite several notable market and geopolitical events during the period, U.S. equities indices achieved new all-time highs, providing a favorable market backdrop that supported the Fund's investment approach.
